COURT DEALS LABOR BOARD SEVERE BLOW

Interpretation of Transportation Act Doubts Claims of Employees

MEANS NEW LEGISLATION

Unions Contend Roads Can Recognize Minority as Representative

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C. — The United States Railroad Labor board has been dealt a solar plexus blow by the supreme court of the United States and this means new legislation by the next congress.

Collective bargaining held as the precious right of labor and affirmed by President Wilson Harding and Coolidge has not yet been recognized legally.

The Howell-Barkley bill now will be pushed forward with greater energy by labor. In many respects labor is as well satisfied as the Pennsylvania railroad with the outcome of the suits testing the power of the railroad labor board. These are only a few of the interpretations that may be placed on the latest decision of the supreme court of the United States in what may be considered the most important decision on the scope of the transportation act which has yet been rendered.

The court was not attempting to deal with the merits of the questions in dispute between capital and labor such as arbitration and collective bargaining but merely decided that if congress intended legal recognition of the right of labor to appoint its own spokesmen and compel the railroads to recognize them then the transportation act didn't say so.

ISSUE WAS DRIFTING
The whole issue has been drifting along for several years in fact ever since the labor board was organized in it will be recalled that considerable public opinion was aroused against the railroad employers for refusing to recognize the labor board's decisions. It was argued that the laboring men were delving their government. Now it has been made clear that the railroad employers can ignore the decisions of the railroad board and the cycle of disregard for the labor board is complete. It is mainly a tribunal unable to enforce its decisions and the parties at interest are still waiting their legal rights in refusing to obey the board.

What has happened however on another fundamental point namely recognition of employee representatives will only serve to revive the controversy on that score. The unions have contended that the Pennsylvania and other railroads could hold a puppet election and deliver any small group of men to be their representatives and spokesmen at the expense of the rest of the employees and defeat the democracy idea among employees. Indeed, the Pennsylvania has consistently refused to recognize any spokesman for the American Federation of Labor unless he were on the Pennsylvania payroll. The employees have charged that this was coercion. The question of how the election of employee representatives shall be carried was taken up by the United States Railroad Labor board with the hope of seeing rules applied that would satisfy both sides. The Pennsylvania denied the right of the labor board to interfere and has just won its point in the supreme court. The court decision gave no such authority to the labor board. This doesn't mean that congress is prevented from so doing. In fact the Howell-Barkley bill will give the employees the right to collective bargaining through representatives of their own choosing just as the management has the right to hire spokesmen or counsel to represent the employer side without interference by the employees.

So the transportation act again has proved defective so far as making compulsory a method of preventing labor disputes and leaves the railroads free to form "company unions" all they like and to carry still further their battle against collective bargaining. All of this means that President Coolidge will be compelled to take more active steps at the next session of congress to bring the railroads and their employees together on new legislation.

CONGRESS PAY BILL IS LAST SIGNED BY COOLIDGE WEDNESDAY

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge signed the legislative appropriation bill carrying increased salaries for members of congress, the cabinet and the vice president.

The measure was the last signed by the president Wednesday at his room at the capitol where he had gone to take the oath of office.

Country Has Vice President First Time in Nineteen Months

CHIEF TAKES OATH AT 1 P. M.

Largest Audience in History Hears Executive's Address Over Radio

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge was inaugurated president in his own right Wednesday by overwhelming mandate of the people.

For the first time in 19 months the country has a vice president.

Standing at the historic spot where a long line of predecessors have taken the sacred oath the president bent and kissed the bible in the hands of chief justice Taft and delivered his inaugural address.

Vice President Dawes a few minutes earlier had taken his oath and delivered his inaugural address in the senate chamber.

The president took the oath of office precisely at 1 o'clock. Vice President Dawes had taken the oath at 12:15 A. M. Despite the president's firm stand for a lack of expensive display, which had reduced the ceremony to the last degree of simplicity, it still was a marked contrast from the midnight moment of 19 months ago when roused from sleep by the news of President Harding's sudden death he took the same oath by the glow of an oil lamp in his father's bedroom.

FATHER STAYS NEARBY
The president's father, Colonel John Coolidge stood near him Wednesday and gathered close by were Mrs. Coolidge with her mother, Mrs. Goodhue, members of the cabinet, the supreme court, ranking officers of the army and navy, members of the diplomatic corps and members of the congressional committee in charge of the inaugural arrangements.

March snow which had promised to flood the ceremonies with a glorious light was overcast by gathering clouds as the hour of inauguration arrived and a prospect of a crisp, bright day had slowly turned to a threat of a cold rain. But there was no change in the physical arrangements of the president's inauguration in the open air because the official party was sheltered by a large steel canopy.

When the President spoke the words of his inaugural address he had the ear of the greatest audience ever addressed by one man in the history of time. Not only the thousands gathered before him on the Capitol plaza were enabled to hear him with the aid of amplifying devices but throughout the country millions heard the address the music of the nation hymn and the progress of the entire ceremony by a great radio hookup which covered stations all over the United States.

Pennsylvania has historical route of many presidents of war and peace contained a smaller audience Wednesday than it has at any other inaugural within the memory of old time observers.

Modest decorations and a much reduced program for the inaugural procession—all to the president's insistence—economized but reduced the attraction of the inaugural as a spectacle for crowds.

Bowing his head over his grand mother's bible the president took the oath at 1 P. M. precisely.

TAFT READS OATH
Chief Justice Taft read the words of the obligation which he himself and once assumed in a voice that could be heard well by the crowd as Mr. Coolidge stood silently at the end was loudly audible outside the stand. Then he bent his head and kissed the bible and the great throng recognized with a cheer that another administration had been ushered in.

The president gave his address immediately speaking rather more rapidly than ordinarily.

Mr. Coolidge and a group of relatives and friends stood at the rear of the seats immediately behind him as he stood before the rail of the inaugural stand lined with microphones which were carrying his words into the farthest corners of the country. One of those present at the inauguration was the president's father.

Relatives and friends of Vice President Dawes stood at the rear of the voice amplifiers which were carrying his words into the farthest corners of the country. One of those present at the inauguration was the president's father.

INDICT BORGLUM ON THREE COUNTS

Larceny from House, Simple Larceny and Malicious Mischief Charged

By Associated Press
Atlanta, Ga.—Indictments charging larceny from the house, simple larceny and malicious mischief were returned against Gutzon Borglum, deposed sculptor of the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial by a Dekalb county grand jury Wednesday. Larceny from the house is a felony under the laws of Georgia. Two indictments were returned against T. C. Tucker, Borglum's superintendent of construction.

Tucker is charged with simple larceny from the house. Borglum is under $5,000 bond to appear in Greensboro N. C. Saturday night, following his arrest late Saturday on a warrant charging malicious mischief a misdemeanor. Tucker has not been arrested.

ISMET PASHA FORMS NEW TURK CABINET

By Associated Press
London—An agency dispatch from Constantinople says Ismet Pasha has formed a cabinet to succeed that which resigned Tuesday with Tawfik Rashedi Pasha head of the Turkish delegation to the population's exchange commission, as minister of foreign affairs.

Rediab Bey becomes minister of national defense and Hassan the deputy for Trehizond minister of finance. The ministers of marine, interior and commerce are retained.

Highway Bill Passed By Assembly, 86 To 6

REFORM IN SENATE IS ADVOCATED BY DAWES IN INAUGURAL TALKS

Madison—The highway bill distributing funds including proceeds from a new two-cent gasoline tax was passed finally 86 to 6 in the assembly Wednesday. It goes to the governor for signature.

Actually no opposition developed on final passage. Assemblyman Hulker Racine offered amendments increasing the allotment to cities of more than 40,000 population and eliminating 10 per cent refund to the state but they were rejected as was an amendment by George Fredrick Merrill to exempt rural mail carriers from the gasoline tax payment.

The only speech was by Assemblyman Blanchard who reviewed the administration's attitude toward a gasoline tax, declaring it was inconsistent. Mr. Blanchard voted for the measure Wednesday. Several unsuccessful efforts were made to shut off his speech. Assemblyman Pugh Maunton declaring Blanchard only recently had stated "no man changes their minds."

The assembly killed the Hulker bill to exempt new industries from taxation, voting indefinite postponement.

The assembly reversed its previous passage of the Hillman bill for uniform school term of nine months and indefinitely postponed it 55 to 36. The action was taken under a motion by Assemblyman Mathiowetz, Ashland, for reconsideration of the passage.

Mr. Mathiowetz gave as his reason for reconsideration the small number of members that were present when the bill was passed last Monday. He said he favored the measure. Opposition developed however, from some who favored home rule in school affairs. The assembly refused, 25 to 66, to consider its ordering of the homestead exemption repeal to engrossment.

Frank L. Prescott's resolution to obtain an expression of the "Republicanism" of the Wisconsin legislature was defeated with a point of order by Thomas M. Duncan, Milwaukee, Socialist, until later in the week.

Mr. Duncan contended that the resolution by Mr. Prescott Milwaukee a so-called stalwart Republican could not be acted upon by the legislature which is barred from passing on matters international policy of any political party. Speaker Sachison said he thought the point was well taken and the subject was a matter for party caucus and not for the legislature but that he would take it under consideration.

PERSHING IN NEED OF REST, DIAGNOSIS

Medic Expects General Will Be Able to Take Part in Program Thursday

By Associated Press
Havana, Cuba.—John J. Pershing who was taken ill Tuesday afternoon after he arrived here from Santiago de Cuba spent a quiet night and was sleeping at 7:30 A. M. Wednesday. It was learned at the hotel where he is stopping.

Visits to government officials the presidential palace and a reception at the American embassy in his honor had been planned for Wednesday but were cancelled Tuesday night when a phlebotomy was called to attend the general. Dr. D. T. Lunn, the physician attending General Pershing said late Tuesday night that his patient's condition was somewhat improved and it was his belief that the program for Thursday and the following days could be gone through with out danger.

Rights of the long railway journey Thursday were trying on the general and a day's rest should be enough to restore his health, he said.

Sixty-Eighth Congress Dies In Peaceful Calm

Washington, D. C.—The sixty eighth congress died Wednesday amid a peaceful calm in striking contrast to the throes of bitterness and strife which have tortured it during most of its tenure of power.

As against the sensational character of some of its sittings with the long list of investigations charges and counter charges a benevolent atmosphere prevailed both in house and senate and there was lacking the wild legislative times which usually accompany the close of a session.

The house which long ago had caught up with its business, passed a few minor measures and occupied itself in listening to complimentary speeches touching its membership.

The senate after passing the deficiency bill had trouble keeping it self in order for a time because of the changed order of seats made necessary by the inauguration arrangements. It succeeded, however, in acting upon a number of minor measures and recessed from time to time awaiting the inaugural ceremonies.

As finally passed the deficiency bill was stripped of the public building provisions which had delayed its enactment.

There was the usual last minute confusion as bills were hurried through with great rapidity.

After half a dozen private rights bills had gone through the senate in general hubbub Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader said he would object to the consideration of any more bills unless procedure could be in order.

A last minute effort by Senator King Democrat Utah to get senate action on his world court proposal was blocked by Senator Moses Republican New Hampshire one of the compromisers on the Versailles treaty.

The house adjourned at 11:52 A. M. and the senate began taking short recesses waiting time for the beginning of the official inaugural ceremonies.

DROP MITCHELL FROM LISTS OF AIR OFFICIALS

Brigadier General Will Not Be Reappointed When Term Expires

By Associated Press
Washington, D. C.—On the heels of the aircraft strip-up precipitated by the house committee hearings, it has been learned authoritatively that Brigadier General William Mitchell, central figure in the controversy, will not be continued as assistant chief of the army air service, when his present appointment expires May 26. General Mitchell's name it has been made known is not on the list of officers now before Secretary Weeks for consideration for appointment to the position. During his tenure as assistant army air chief General Mitchell has strongly advocated unified army and navy air service despite administration opposition, and his statements concerning air power and the status of the air services in the recently concluded hearings before the house aircraft committee have brought sharp contradictions to both war and navy department officials. The nomination for the position will be sent to the special session of the senate probably Thursday afternoon. Mr. Mitchell one of the city's oldest residents died Tuesday at the age of 90. She has resided here for 75 years coming from Norway at the age of 14.

Neenah—Eldin Gunn, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Gunn, Menasha, Wis., suffered a broken leg about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when he caught the leg in the wheel of a wagon in which he was riding to school. The accident occurred at Third and Nicoletti blvd., Neenah.

STATE ATTORNEY HOLDS ROHAN ELECTION ILLEGAL

ELECTION MUST BE HELD IN JUNE, BOSSER ADVISED

Council Has Not Authority to Consolidate Districts, Ekern Rules.

A. C. Bosser, city attorney, was upheld by the attorney general Tuesday in his decision that the election of B. J. Rohan as superintendent of schools last January was illegal. News of the attorney general's decision was received by Mr. Bosser late Tuesday afternoon from John Callahan, state superintendent of schools. No details setting forth the reasons for that decision were available, only the following telegram: "Attorney general decides that the election of city superintendent of schools in January was illegal. Letter follows giving copy of board of education challenged the legality of the election, the board asked for a legal opinion from Mr. Bosser who declared that under the city charter the board may elect a superintendent only in the annual meeting in June and for a term of one year only. Mr. Rohan was elected for a term of three years beginning July 1, 1925, which is the day that the term of Miss Carrie E. Morgan, incumbent, expires. Miss Morgan was not a candidate for reelection, the contest being between Mr. Rohan, principal of the Second district of schools, and Lee C. Rasey, principal of the high school. Mr. Rasey has tendered his resignation as high school principal to take effect at the close of the school year.

BOARD MEETS SOON
The next meeting of the board of education is scheduled for Wednesday, Mar. 11, at which time the present situation will be discussed further.

At the time Mr. Bosser rendered his decision he suggested that the only way the board of education could escape the requirement of holding the election in June was to adopt the union system of schools, or have the charter amended. Since the Fourth district of this city defeated the city plan over the majority vote of the city, he said it was possible for the city council to consolidate the districts after which a referendum on the union school question might be called.

Mr. Bosser learned later that the law from which he was reading had been changed by the last legislature which again denied the council that authority. This also is the substance of the opinion received by Miss Morgan from the state attorney general a few days ago.

Under the 1921 statutes, Section 40-01, city councils had power "to alter school district boundaries and to consolidate, or dissolve school districts." The word "consolidate" was stricken out by Chapter 329 of the 1923 statutes, and a paragraph was added to restore all districts so consolidated since Jan. 1, 1921, to their former status. But this amendment was held unconstitutional by the court in Mar. 11, 1924. The question has arisen, the attorney general says, whether the entire chapter 329 is void, or whether the amendment on consolidation and whether the words "to alter school district boundaries" do not already include the idea of consolidation. In view of the uncertainty of the whole situation, the attorney general advised that if the state legislature desires to give city councils and village and town boards the authority to consolidate school districts that the word "consolidate" be reinserted in the section.

The foregoing opinion was given by the attorney general to a Wisconsin assemblyman and was forwarded by the state superintendent to Miss Morgan, as it is said to apply to the local situation.

BIG CROWD PLEASSED WITH BAND CONCERT

An audience which practically filled Lawrence Memorial chapel heard concert by the 120th Field Artillery band Tuesday evening. It was one of the finest programs presented by the band under Director Edward Mumm.

Among the features were the baritone solos by S. C. Rosebush and soprano solos by Miss Myrtle Hoerning. The work of Mr. Rosebush with the baritone horn was considered one of the outstanding performances of the evening.

The next concert will be held in the chapel on March 24.

CHILDREN GET HOLIDAY WHEN FURNACE GOES BAD

Lincoln school was closed Wednesday morning because it was necessary to shut off the steam heat in order to repair the boiler. The accident occurred about 7:30 and the school was not warm enough for the children by the time classes were called. Classes were conducted as usual Wednesday afternoon.

It had been planned to have a radio installed at the school so the children could hear President Coolidge's inaugural address, but arrangements were canceled.

A son was born Tuesday afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gustin, Route 6, Appleton.

BERLIN BIDS EBERT FAREWELL ON FINAL HOMEWARD JOURNEY

Berlin—The German capital Wednesday bids farewell to Friedrich Ebert, first president of the republic, whose body will leave by special train Wednesday night for his birthplace at Heidelberg, where it will lie beside that of his mother in the Berg cemetery.

The funeral services in the executive mansion attended by about 250 high officials and diplomats began at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with Acting President Luther as the orator and music by the chorus and orchestra of the state opera.

The body was to be taken at 4 o'clock under military escort to the front of the Reichstag building, where President Loeb of the legislative body was to deliver an eulogy.

The procession then will move to Potsdamer station, where the coffin will be placed on a high catafalque so the public may have an opportunity to pay its respects before the funeral train starts for Heidelberg.

SCHOOL CONDEMNED BUT DISTRICT WON'T AUTHORIZE NEW ONE

Although Golden Hill school, District No. 2, Town of Maple Creek has been condemned, members of the school board Monday afternoon voted 4 to 2 not to remodel the old building and by the same vote refused to erect a new one. This leaves the situation completely up in the air, for if classes are held in the condemned building no state aid will be given. On the other hand if no classes are held for two years, the district may be dissolved.

COOLIDGE INAUGURAL MARKED BY SIMPLICITY

The Coolidge administration policy drew a prolonged ovation.

"I favor the policy of economy not because I wish to save money, but because I wish to save people," the president fairly shouted, and cheer after cheer rolled back to answer him.

After that the applause became more general. There was a roar when he declared for an adequate military force.

Mr. Coolidge finished his address at 1:42 P. M. and his concluding words were left tossing on tumultuous waves of applause as he turned to receive the handshakes of those about him.

LEAN FORWARD TO HEAR
Many of those in the throng leaned forward to catch the significance of Mr. Coolidge's words. There was more hand clapping but the reference to the world court brought only a smattering of applause.

The crowds that had gathered along the route of the parade on Pennsylvania-ave also had thickened materially but their numbers did not approach the throngs that have witnessed the passing of most other inaugural processions of recent years.

At the close of his address the executive removed his glasses and shook hands first with Senator Curtis. He picked up his hat, walked with Mrs. Coolidge to the back of the stand and then with Senator Curtis at his side and Mrs. Coolidge a step behind, moved from the scene of another induction into the office, the ninth in his life.

Immediately a signal was flashed to the waiting cavalry escort. With drawn sabers the cavalymen waited opposite the inaugural stand for the official party again to take its places in the line of motor cars.

At 1:47 P. M. the party left the capital, traversing again the historic route over Pennsylvania-ave to the executive mansion.

COOLIDGE TAKES WALK
Before 7:30, while most of the White House circle was just bestirring itself from sleep the president stepped out on the north portico of the mansion, tested the mellowing spring air, and then took a round about on the northwest gate, past the stand where he later was to review his inaugural parade and then back through the southwest gate to the executive offices.

To the secret service men who were his sole companions during the walk, the president remarked that on every one of the other eight days when he took an oath of office, the weather had been at least fine. Now, after he hoped it would not break a precedent Wednesday.

Soon after he reentered the White House, Mrs. Coolidge and their guests were ready for breakfast and the party sat down in the state dining room to the usual buckwheat cakes, Vermont maple syrup and sausage. Frank Stearns, the president's friend, was missing from the breakfast table, having gone to the Union station to meet John Coolidge, an Amherst student, who came into Washington among the last of the inaugural crowds that had gathered to see his father installed for another four years. His train was due at 8:30 A. M., but Mr. Stearns found when he reached the station that it was not near late.

Soon after 9 o'clock the first of the throngs that were to witness the taking of the oath on the Capitol plaza had begun to make a thin fringe of humanity around the rear of the mammoth stands for the elect. They had four hours and more to wait standing before the president was to appear. The

ORDINANCE FIXING SPEED ON BRIDGES INTERESTS COUNCIL

Four Ordinances to Be Considered by Aldermen at First March Meeting

Four proposed ordinances will come up for consideration at the regular meeting of the Appleton common council Wednesday evening.

Two of the ordinances establish a new salary schedule for the members of the police and fire departments and provide for a $5 a month increase in pay for these men.

A third ordinance, if adopted, will lengthen the term of county supervisors from one to two years to make the term of the same length as that of aldermen. The ordinance will have no effect upon the present term but will apply only to the supervisors elected April 7.

The greatest interest seems to be attached to the ordinance which would forbid vehicles crossing a bridge to pass motor vehicles going in the same direction. Under this ordinance, it would be illegal to pass motor vehicles unless the latter come to a full stop on the bridge. The ordinance also provides that no driver wishing to pass would have to signal his intention in a "distinct and audible" manner. He also would have to give a signal prior to passing a horse drawn vehicle. Violation of the ordinance would be punishable by a fine of $1 to $100 or by imprisonment not exceeding three months in the county jail.

WOMAN TAKEN ILL BECOMES VIOLENT AND BEATS SISTER

Miss Mary Nabbefeldt Goes to Hospital After Attack by Mrs. John Kielcheski

Injuries inflicted by a sister when she became violent during illness were responsible for the conveying of Miss Mary Nabbefeldt, 122 E. McKinley-st to St. Elizabeth hospital, Wednesday morning. Miss Nabbefeldt was beaten and suffered injuries mostly to her chest but her condition is not regarded as serious.

The woman was caring for her sister, Mrs. John Kielcheski, whose home is at 302 S. State-st. The latter was taken ill while working at Neenah Tuesday afternoon, according to the best reports obtainable, and was conveyed to the Nabbefeldt home instead of her own to enable her sister to administer care.

Mrs. Kielcheski is said to have arisen from her bed when she became violent Wednesday morning and to have attacked Miss Nabbefeldt with a chair and then trampled on her chest. Mrs. Kielcheski then fled from the house but was located a short time later on South Law-st by her brothers, taken back home and put to bed under a physician's care.

Miss Nabbefeldt seemed hurt, quite badly and was taken to the hospital but her physician expressed the belief that her injuries were not serious.

radio announcers gave one last try-out to the broadcasting apparatus that was to carry the inaugural speech to the country and pronounced the arrangements perfect.

TALKS OVER WORK
President Coolidge went to his desk at the executive offices five minutes before nine o'clock and sat looking over the day's correspondence. Before he left it Tuesday night he had cleared up the vast accumulation of legislative business dumped upon him by congress in its closing hours, and he had before him only the day's work in conformity with a precept of promptitude he long ago adopted as his guide in public service.

Vice President Elect Dawes in his apartment at the New Willard hotel, rose at 9 o'clock. As usual, he shaved himself and dressed leisurely preparatory to having breakfast with his family in the apartment.

Meantime President Coolidge had spent the first half hour at his desk at work on correspondence only. He apparently had not yet decided whether to sign any legislative proposals, but he had decided to increase for the Vice President, members of congress and cabinet officials.

While he was eating breakfast, General Dawes invited a group of waiting newspaper correspondents into his apartment. Many of them were old friends and as he ate he cracked jokes at the expense of most of them. Meantime the troop of the Third cavalry which was to escort him to the White House a little later took up its position at the East entrance of the hotel.

Just at 10 o'clock the congressional inaugural committee headed by Senator Curtis of Kansas arrived at the Willard to escort the incoming vice president and Mrs. Dawes to the White House.

Meantime President Coolidge had a chat in his office with Thomas W. White, budget officer of Massachusetts and an old friend, and had left for the White House proper without having signed the legislative bill. There remained a chance he would do so at the capital before congress died at noon.

Naylor Skids Drinkers Out Of Lawrence

Two members of the Lawrence College Glee club and another student, a resident of Brook hall, have been expelled from the college for drinking, and five members of the glee club have been suspended because of the same offense, it was learned from Dr. W. S. Naylor, acting president. Two other students were sent home after Christmas. Dr. Naylor denied reports that charters of two sororities have been revoked.

Several of the men who went on the last glee club tour were indignant because some of the members had been drinking, and declared that unless that sort of thing was stopped they would drop glee club work, Dr. Naylor said.

President Naylor feels that, as a whole Lawrence college students are of excellent character and that the offenders are not representative of the student body.

our enormous powers to trim the balance of the world."

Only once in his address did Mr. Coolidge refer to the election which today brought him to the Presidency for a term in his own right, and that was after he had declared strongly in favor of strict party responsibility, adding that "common honesty" and good faith with the people who support a party at the polls require that party, when it enters office, to assume the control of that portion of the government to which it has been elected.

MANDATE FROM PEOPLE

"This administration has come into power with a very clear and definite mandate from the people," he said. "The people declared that they wanted their rights to have not a political but a judicial determination, and their independence and freedom continued and supported by having the ownership and control of their property, not in the government, but in their hands."

Pursuing further his discussion of domestic affairs, he declared that "those who want their rights respected under the Constitution and the law ought to set the example themselves of observing the Constitution and the law" and that "we cannot permit any inquisition either within or without the law or apply any religious test to the holding of office."

"America," he concluded, "seeks no earthly empire built on blood and force. No ambition, no temptation, lures her to thought of foreign dominions. The legions which she sends forth are armed, not with the sword, but with the cross. The higher state to which she seeks the allegiance of all mankind is not of human but of divine origin. She cherishes no purpose save to merit the favor of Almighty God."

MERCHANTS WILL TRIM WINDOWS TO SHOW LATE STYLES

March 11 Will Be Formal Opening of Style Week in Appleton

Wednesday, March 11, will mark the opening of style week in Appleton, and for three days after that show windows of stores will be filled with the newest spring creations. Window displays are to be more elaborate than ever for the annual style week, and the choicest models of milliners, dressmakers and shoemakers, are to be exhibited.

Tuesday evening the Post-Crescent will publish a special edition so that Appleton citizens may have a guide to where the newest styles are being shown.

Spring style week is always looked forward to not only by local people, but by residents of the county, and merchants expect that many will visit the shopping district during fashion week.

Stores will not be open during the evening, but special efforts are to be made during the day so that visitors will have every opportunity to see the new spring fashions. Windows will be unveiled promptly at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

BEGIN REHEARSAL FOR PASSION PLAY

The passion play, given for the benefit of the new sisters home of St. Joseph church, will be presented March 29, 30 and 31 and April 1 in St. Joseph hall, the general committee announced following a meeting Tuesday night. There will be five performances, two on Sunday, March 29 when matinee and evening performances are to be held, and one on each of the remaining evenings. Gustave Keller, Sr., was elected chairman of the executive committee.

The play is to be staged on a more elaborate scale this year and will be directed by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Bannister, who were in charge last year. The Bannisters are the authors of the play, which is in four acts.

The first rehearsal is to be held Thursday evening.

A large group of women gathered at Appleton Womens club Wednesday morning to hear the inaugural address of President Coolidge, over the radio. A set was installed in the clubhouse Wednesday morning and women of the city were invited to be present. The message came in clearly. The Appleton High School Radio club had planned to connect its set with the assembly room, but were unable to hear the program. The Lincoln school radio program was called off, because the school was closed, due to accident to the boiler which necessitated turning off the heat.

MERCHANT HELPS MANITOWOC DECIDE AGAINST TAX BILL

J. D. Steele Points Out Danger of Administration Revenue Measure

J. D. Steele of Appleton was one of the principal speakers at a meeting of citizens of Manitowoc to discuss bill No. 122 S., the new state measure, at the Manitowoc opera house Monday night.

Mr. Steele opposed the bill as a merchant. He said the bill makes the merchant pay the back taxes of 1924 even after a dividend has been declared. The bill is an injustice to all stockholders because it taxes stockholders twice on the same earnings.

Mr. Steele explained what the bill means to a city. He said that 35 cents more of every taxable dollar is taken away from the city. Instead of the city receiving 70 cents in taxes it would get 45 cents, while the state gets the increase. This means either a high tax increase to residents of each city or a lower efficiency. It is not equal redistribution as it is supposed to be, but a vital increase in taxes, Mr. Steele said.

After Mr. Steele's talk a resolution bitterly opposing the proposed increased tax measure and pointing out its weak features was passed by the citizens of Manitowoc and will be sent to Madison.

Passage of the resolution was followed by a short talk by Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of Appleton chamber of commerce, who told of the recent attitude in the state legislature. He said that there is a gradual change of sentiment against the bill. If the people don't want the bill, they don't have to have it. They need only use their influence on their representatives as the feeling of uncertainty pervades the entire legislature at present. The farmers are beginning to oppose the measure from all sides as they start to see that the bill is not what it purports to be. They now see that it does not help the farmer as it is supposed to do, but increases his taxes also, Mr. Corbett said.

ARID ARIZONA IS PRAYING FOR RAIN

While Wisconsin has been "suffering" for lack of snow this winter, Arizona is harassed for want of rain and as a result the cattle ranches are endangered, according to Fred Niles, Appleton-st., a salesman for Godfrey & Sons, who is spending the winter at Phoenix for his health. Mrs. William Namachek and son Theron and John Lowe also are among the Appleton persons wintering in Phoenix. "I shall be glad to have all my friends know," writes Mr. Niles, "that while I came here for my health and find the climate very healthful, I can find no peace in the west that can equal Wisconsin. I have visited ranches in various parts of Arizona and they inform me that unless they get rain very soon they will suffer the same conditions as in 1902 and 1903 when thousands of fine cattle died on the plains for want of feed. Just yesterday I returned from a trip where I saw a herd of 8,000 steers. The owners explained that they were up against it for means to keep them alive unless rain comes soon."

NEW POLLING PLACE FOR VOTERS OF THIRD WARD

Voters of the First precinct in the Third ward will exercise their franchise at a new polling place at the next city elections. The booths will be erected in the Reo garage, 527 W. College-ave, instead of on State-st where they were at the last elections. E. L. Williams, city clerk, announces.

SWEDISH WOMAN ASKS MAYOR TO HELP FIND SON WHO LIVED HERE

The age-old quest of a mother for her estranged son had another chapter this week in the letter of inquiry received by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., from an aged woman in Stockholm, Sweden, who is looking for word from her son, Karl Adolph Stahl, formerly of Appleton. The mother has had no word from her son for several years, and is worried about his health and safety. Police have investigated the case and learned that Stahl boarded at the Milwaukee house on Appleton-st in 1916, and that he was seen here again about four years ago. He is believed to have gone from here to Green Bay.

GROUP SCHOOLS FOR SECOND TRIANGLES IN DEBATE LEAGUE

Nineteen Schools Have Been Certified to Lawrence as Winners

Nineteen winners have survived the first round of the elimination in the interscholastic debating league, according to reports received at the college forensic office as the leagues headquarters. Three triangles were forced to postpone their debating because of illness of speakers, and a few reports are not yet in.

Work has begun on the grouping to the winners for the second matches, the losers in the last matches being eliminated. This policy will be carried on until the final survivor will be awarded the state championship and the silver loving cup which goes with it. Washington high school in Milwaukee now has possession of the cup as last year's winners.

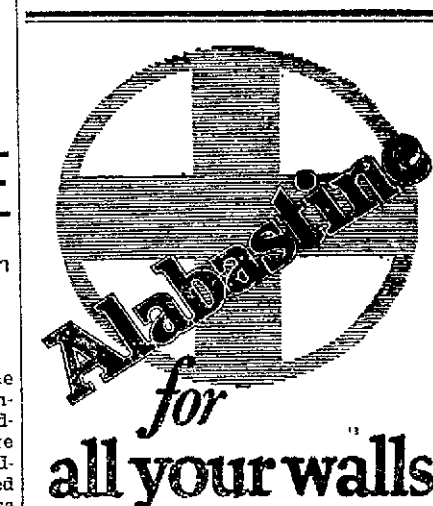

The survivors of the first triangle eliminations include Berlin, Mayville, Sparta, Columbus, West Allis, Sny Lee, Kaukauna, West Bend, Arcadia, Colby, Kewaunee, Two Rivers, Fort Atkinson (by forfeit), Antigo, Wausau, River Falls, Portage, and Mondovi. The three triangles which postponed their debates probably will meet Friday night. They are Eau Claire, Chippewa Falls, and Menomonie; St. Croix Falls, Osceola, and Milltown, Spooner, Cumberland, and Rice Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Douglas of Independence, Mo., who have been visiting for a few days at the home of Judge and Mrs. Fred V. Heinemann, have returned home.

QUOTE FAMOUS MEN ON DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

A series of posters favoring the eighteenth amendment and strongly opposing bootlegging and such pursuits as detrimental to the country's welfare have been received by Appleton Y. M. C. A. from the Intercollegiate Welfare association and one or two will appear each week on the bulletin board in the men's division. The posters contain the portraits of well-known Americans and their statements on bootlegging, quoted directly from interviews or speeches. The statements are directed particularly to students.

The two on display this week are pictures and statements of Rear Admiral William S. Sims of the United States Navy and Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas.

Better and more Economical

The Service of Economical Management

"So far as the use of capital is concerned"—says a Financial Expert in the Chicago Tribune of February 11, 1925—"a cheapening of the product manufactured can be expected only under economies of operation."

The real problem of industry today is not "who owns the capital invested?" but "how is the capital operated?"

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) invites judgment based upon its operation of capital.

This Company's ideal of service is founded upon sound economies of management. It believes that rigid economy alone can enable the Company to manufacture and sell its products at a price which will allow people in all circumstances to use them in increasing quantities.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that capital should be used for the benefit of the greatest number of people—that oil products should be made available to all—that the price of these products must be held down to permit their universal enjoyment.

An oil field is something created by nature—but nature is no economist. She places her products where she finds conditions favorable, with no thought for man's convenience.

Generally oil is found in remote regions—discovered after great risk and rendered accessible and usable only through heavy expenditures of money, and the application of experience, ingenuity, foresight and thrift in the management of industry.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) refines this oil into a multitude of products, which it distributes so widely as to make them of universal benefit to humanity.

The basis of this service is economy. It is a wise economy, too, which from long and seasoned experience dictates when to spend and when not to spend. Thrift rules and waste is not tolerated.

Through this fundamental service the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) operates the capital of its stockholders in such a way as to increase and extend its power to serve humanity.

ON RIGHT TRACK

The Oshkosh conference for the resurrection of the defunct Wisconsin G. O. P. is a step in the right direction. The large and representative attendance at the meeting reflects an interest in the move which is likely to keep it going. It is said there was much enthusiasm, and we trust it was supported by a plentiful supply of quiet determination. We think these men who are endeavoring to recover Wisconsin from radical administration have selected an opportune time.

Leaving Mr. La Follette out of all consideration, for he really has no place in the picture, the performance of the legislature during this and the preceding session is enough ground on which to appeal to the loyalty and common sense of the citizens of Wisconsin for a change. The legislature is not in any sense a La Follette legislature, nor is the administration, with a hodge-podge legislature that might be called anything.

Some of Mr. La Follette's most constructive work in Wisconsin has been attacked and all but destroyed by the radical forces at Madison. Mr. La Follette has always believed in appointing capable men to public office, in the value and use of expert knowledge, in the adequate support of higher education, all of which have been under fire by the legislature and to a considerable extent undermined.

The present administration at Madison is a huge political farce. There is nothing constructive, practical or idealistic about it. It is a scramble for power, place and political control. It has cheapened everything La Follette did while he was governor, because it pretends to work under his name and his approval.

Wisconsin should want a change from this situation so far as state affairs are concerned. It should want a different tax policy, economy and a reduction of public expenditures and taxation. It should, and we believe does, approve the policies of Calvin Coolidge and his able administration in behalf of good government, retrenchment and common sense.

The conference at Madison appears to have been an assembly of high-minded and level-headed persons who believe in Coolidge's leadership and policy and who are sickened of the circus being staged at Madison. They are men of earnestness and capability and they have formed the nucleus of an organization which ought to speedily grow and acquire the confidence of the people of Wisconsin.

Men who have formed a third party should keep to that organization. The title of Republican belongs only to those who are Republican in principle and policy. Much that has kept the so-called Progressive cause alive in this state was its false affiliation with the Republican party and its appropriation of that title. Separated from the national organization and name it will have to paddle its own canoe, and we do not think it will do so well. We shall at least have a proper division of the two elements in Wisconsin under the right headings, and that is what we need. It is not impossible that a reborn Republican party may carry the elections in 1926. With the right kind of organization, effort and approach, we think it can.

ATTENDANCE AT THE FARMERS' INSTITUTE

As the winter season progresses it is becoming more and more apparent that the Farmers' Institute sessions held in this and other sections of the state are more popular than ever. Reports received by The Post-Crescent indicate conclusively that attendance at the gatherings held in Brown, Kewaunee, Door, Oconto, Marinette, Shawano, Outagamie and Calumet counties has eclipsed all records this year and that interest in modern farming methods is at a high pitch. At one institute held in Calumet county more than 1,200 persons attended the three sessions, an average of 400 for each session.

There are two reasons for this increased attendance, we believe. The first reason is economic. Due to a depression in the price of farm products, the agriculturist to make a living has found it necessary to operate his farm on a close basis and grow only those crops that promise a cash profit, or rather a profit that can be converted into cash at the end of the growing season. Realizing this need, the speakers at the various institutes are urging Wisconsin farmers to grow only those crops that have a stable demand, and telling them how to cut their overhead and production costs by feeding their herds scientifically, and not on a hit or miss basis.

The second reason is social. In winter time when social intercourse is hampered by blocked roads and cold weather, the farmer finds that these institutes relieve the tedium of a farm existence and at the same time teach him something beneficial. Even if he received no direct benefit, the mere fact that the farmer comes in contact with other agriculturists and exchanges ideas, would be sufficient reason for continuing the institutes. Nearly all progress is made by observing the methods of others and adapting certain good points to one's own needs.

Two years ago certain assemblymen and senators at Madison decided that Farmers' Institutes had outlived their usefulness. They were passe and in the interest of progressiveness and "economy" should be abolished. A bill was introduced for that purpose. No one was concerned about the institute, attendance was small and getting smaller each year, they asserted. Just to determine the sentiment of the farmers and to prove whether or not the legislators knew whereof they spoke a canvass was made of nine north-eastern counties on the question of abolishing the institutes. Of the 480 farmers questioned, 435 favored the continuance of the institutes, and declared they were of great benefit, while 45 said they did not believe in them and were indifferent as to their fate.

Taking this survey as a basis for its action several Wisconsin newspapers started a campaign to save the institutes. After a vigorous battle on the senate floor the bill to abolish these winter meetings was killed by a small margin. Since then there has been no more talk of doing away with these gatherings, for the legislature has found that it erred and erred greatly when it attempted to interfere with something that promise to aid the farmer in his struggle to make a fair living off the soil.

As long as the present attendance records are maintained we believe that there will be no further moves to eliminate the institutes. They have an important place in Wisconsin's farm life and we shall not think of abolishing them. Rather, we should seek to improve them.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

FICKLE.

THERE'S one little lady whom all menfolks know. She's fickle as a tickle can be. She'll halt for a moment and then on the go. She's captured, then suddenly free. She must get a kick out of playing her game. It's certain that she understands how men let their love quickly burst into flame, and then let her slip through their hands. We work hard to get her. I'll say that we do. But maybe she's worth it, at that. One day she's mine, then she switches to you and never an eye will she be. Don't say you don't know her. 'Twould be out of place, and prove you're a very poor scholar. Just stop now and think when I say that her face is printed on each silver dollar. You see, you're acquainted—she's often been yours, but then is the same story told. The fact that she comes and then leaves us assures that she's only to have—not to hold. (Copyright, 1925, NIDA Service, Inc.)

Who remembers way back yonder when being poor was not considered an excuse for not marrying?

Many of the neighbors would be poor if they didn't owe so much.

Probably the most enthusiastic antique hunters are the booze buyers.

Be careful about what you start while trying to stop something.

If our farmers keep on getting educated won't anybody know when it is going to rain.

Indications are the political pie handed some of the hunters was a lemon.

An ounce of sense will disguise a pound of ignorance.

Health Talks

STANDING WITHOUT STANDING.

According to the results of physical examinations of great numbers of school children, seven of every 10 children have defects of posture. Dr. Alonzo Myers, a consultant orthopedic surgeon of the Veterans Bureau, says that half of the cases of deformity or functional deficiency coming to the orthopedic surgeon for treatment are adults whose postural defects have resulted in functional deficiencies. He asserts that the correction of these easily corrected postural defects or habits in childhood will prevent most of the deformities which bring adult patients to the orthopedic surgeon for relief. Such correction, if it is to be successful, must be applied in the grammar school age, and that is the age when children's physical welfare is most thoroughly neglected in our schools.

As a working plan for the practical application of the necessary corrective measures, Dr. Myers, discussing the question in the health bulletin of the North Carolina State Board of Health, suggests that the properly educated physical director should line up all the pupils at the beginning of each term and give them a careful inspection, passing down the line with a clerk or secretary to make note of all abnormalities or deficiencies observed by the physical director, such as uneven shoulders, round shoulders, uneven hips, flat chest, apparent curvatures, and the like, and when the inspection is finished the data obtained should be used to classify the pupils, so that the various deficiencies may be properly considered in assigning the exercises the pupils are to take in the physical training course. The worst group should of course be referred to physicians, or their parents notified that the pupils require medical attention. Of course the physician should make his examination of such patients without their clothing on.

Now, this is a good sensible plan, and I commend it to all teachers in the department of physical education. It might contribute materially toward the betterment of the status of physical education in our public schools. Even though the educational authorities withhold due credit or counts for the pupil's work in physical education and so betray their attitude toward this compulsory body training, the physical directors themselves can nevertheless improve the status of the department by asserting his or her own personality and insisting on some kind of serious work in the gym class. As long as the physically uneducated educational authorities have so little regard for this part of the child's education, we must look to the teachers themselves to elevate the work by their own endeavors. Physical directors as at present employed in public schools are certainly as well fitted for their branch of teaching, as well educated in their specialty, as are the general run of public school teachers today. The teachers of stuff and piffle, and the physically uneducated educational authorities behind them, have got to be taught to respect the training of the body even though they know nothing about it.

Besides this rigid inspection at the beginning of the term, the physical director ought to set up certain minimum requirements, and make an adverse report at the close of the term for every pupil who fails to meet the requirements, such as swimming 10 yards, jumping a certain height or other performances appropriate to the pupil's age and sex.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Animals to Man.

What diseases of animals used in slaughtering are communicable to man in either raw or cooked meat? (M. H. J.)

Answer:—None in thoroughly cooked meat. So far as I know there is evidence that tuberculosis is never communicated through meat. Tapeworm infestation and trichinosis may be communicated to man in raw or underdone beef or ham, respectively. So called "meat poisoning" in man is an infection with germs of the typhoid type which may be present in raw or underdone or partly spoiled meat. Cooking, if the meat is "well done" pretty effectively prevents any chance of contracting any disease by eating meat.

We can clearly understand why the legislature has not been very enthusiastic over that proposal for twice a year collection of taxes. That would mean that taxpayers would yelp doubly as often about high taxes.

Today the whole world listens in just to hear a president swear.

It must be a great surprise to many Wisconsin people to learn that the president's inauguration is actually taking place according to schedule.

It almost seemed as if the whole thing was to be called off after Governor Jawn J. turned down Cal's invitation to be present.

So that is how Art Jones lost two dogs and $15. Moral: A dog on the chain is worth two on the street.

Some radio bugs didn't hear the president's oath today and that is the reason why the other members of the family heard the house resound with another oath.

Skyscraper Is In Favor With Milan People

(From Il Secolo, Milan.)

As to the activities of the National Institute for Habitation, they are concerned chiefly with the construction of a Milan skyscraper and with the popularizing of the project of a garden city built according to the model garden city which Rome possesses. Moreover, a special village with all modern comforts and all equipment needed for various sports is being considered near Milan where Milan residents can easily go for week-ends and where they can stay during the hottest season of the year as a reasonable rate.

These are projects which call for a combination of practical principles and the requirements of beautiful architecture. But the plans of the institute for a skyscraper, a "grattacielo," is far more interesting because it means something entirely new for Milan and because it will give our city a touch of that grand, almost fantastic city of New York.

We already have a splendid design for the skyscraper submitted by Prof. Mario Borgato who built the National theater on Piedmont-st., soon to be dedicated. The giant skyscraper will probably be built opposite the Villa Reale house, another big semi-American structure. The skyscraper will cover 20,000 square meters of ground and it will be 120 meters high from the ground floor to the top floor, but 450 meters from the foundation to the top of the tower. These figures represent unheeded dimensions in Italy and they mean a big step forward in Italian architecture and engineering.

We believe we are not mistaken when we say that Europe has no other structure like it at present. Italy will have the privilege of introducing American building methods on European soil. Despite the size of the plan, we notice that the architectural lines of the skyscraper will be extremely graceful and by no means heavy, a remarkable feature in buildings of such proportions.

As to the interior plans of this structure, it will be an entire city in itself, with apartments and restaurants with offices and factories. They will be modeled along plans of American skyscrapers with passenger and express elevators, hot and cold running water, a central heating plant and other improvements. The whole project seems almost fantastic to us Europeans; likewise it seems admirable—"American."

TWO FLOORS OF GOOD THINGS TO WEAR

Adventures In The Library

By ARNOLD MULDER

ELSIE SINGMASTER

Elsie Singmaster occupies a curious place in American fiction. Associated with no "school," she is making her way slowly but with a certain almost stolid assurance that we have learned to associate with the "Pennsylvania Dutch" of whom she writes. She does not seem to pay the slightest attention to fads and fashions in fiction but writes without reference to the winds of popular taste. And while seemingly ignoring the reading public, she is gradually winning a public of her own.

My own feeling is that Elsie Singmaster is not a great writer but that the adjective "competent" describes her much more correctly than the word "great." Her work is careful and honest and it is sometimes marked by beauty and insight. But she has so far not written a book that inevitably challenges attention although all her books are very much worth reading.

Elsie Singmaster is still a comparatively young woman. She is the daughter of a theological professor and she lives with her parents at Gettysburg, surrounded on all sides by the Pennsylvania Germans who form the characters of nearly all her stories. The place where she lives is important. The Gettysburg associations have served as an inspiration to her and there are echoes of the historic battle in many of her narratives.

HAS "INSIDE DOPE"

But more important yet is the fact that she knows an interesting social group in American life from the inside. The "Pennsylvania Dutch" have made a worthwhile contribution to American life and as a people they have characteristics that are decidedly worth portrayal in fiction. Another woman writer, Helen R. Martin, has for years been writing stories about the "Pennsylvania Dutch," bringing out their stolidity, their penuriousness and many other undesirable qualities. Although I don't know the "Pennsylvania Dutch," I am quite certain that Helen R. Martin is working off a grudge against them and is not doing them justice. They may have all the characteristics the author of "Dillie: A Menonite Maid," gives them, but they undoubtedly have other qualities also that ought to be given to make the picture complete. Moreover, Helen R. Martin has only one story that she tells over and over again—that of a "Pennsylvania Dutch" girl struggling out of her surroundings and finally marrying an "outsider."

Elsie Singmaster portrays the Pennsylvania German from within, with the emphasis on the qualities that have helped these people to give some of the finest men to this nation that America can boast of. Her books have a "local color" to a degree but they do not tell of their own, an element of effectiveness. They are character studies first of all and their author is like a painter who works from the living figure—she has her material right at hand all the time, living with it. That is why it is important that she lives where she does.

A WORTHY TASK

It seems to have occurred to some writer, Elsie Singmaster among them, that America is made up of a large number of such people as the Pennsylvania Germans. Scattered all over this enormous country are communities that are part of America and that go to make up the real America, that give to the public service of the nation, to its art, to its science, its religion, its education, men and women of distinction, but that have a flavor of their own, an individuality that cannot be mistaken for that of any other community.

To portray such social groups from within would seem to be a great and worthwhile task for the worthwhile American novelist. And a number of them have set their hands to the job, as witness Willa Cather, Not mere "local color" stories, which are usually trivial, but a genuine portrayal of the numerous different elements that go to make up America. Instead of that most writers waste themselves on New York; seemingly under the impression that that is the only part of America that counts.

Even though Elsie Singmaster perhaps not a great novelist she is advancing a wholesome tradition in American fiction.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Give your questions plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What will be the seating capacity for the Cathedral of St. John the Divine? J. H. M.

A. The prevailing style of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine is French-Gothic. One of the characteristics is that there will be no pews but movable benches will be used instead as in the old cathedrals. There will be a seating capacity of 7,000 with standing accommodations for several more thousands.

Q. What is meant by the saying "all watches are compasses?" C. O. N.

A. The statement is probably made because it is quite an easy matter to use a watch as a compass. Lay your watch flat in your hand, with the hour hand pointing toward the sun; and the point on the circle half way between the hour hand and XII, will be directly south in the northern hemisphere and directly north in the southern hemisphere.

Q. How many people could be accommodated in the coliseum at Rome? A. A. S.

A. It seated 87,000 people. The stadium at Wembley, seating between 80,000 and 90,000 is the largest in the world today.

Spanish War Vets Plan To Buy Uniforms

Members of the Charles O. Baer camp, United Spanish-American War Veterans, are planning to purchase uniforms for use in the annual Memorial day parade and other dress occasions. A fund for that purpose has already been started and further collections will be made.

At the regular meeting of the camp Tuesday evening a committee was appointed to solicit funds for uniforms. The regulation uniform prescribed by the national organization consists of gray trousers with wide blue stripes, a blue serge coat with military collar and a gray cap with blue trimmings. The coat collar bears the insignia, "U. S. W. V." as well as the name of the state and the number of the camp. At the Tuesday-evening meeting it also was decided to investigate the feasibility of obtaining quarters for social affairs to be conducted by the camp and its women's auxiliary.

Club Studies Institute To Guide Girls

Little Theatre Explained To Drama Workshop

Mrs. John ... sketched on The Little Theatre Movement before the Dramatic Workshop of Appleton Womens club Tuesday night at a meeting in the Playhouse. Mrs. Engel sketched the history of the movement, and the spirit and ideal that has made it national in scope. The Little Theatre groups are made up of people who are interested in drama alone, with little thought of financial profits, she said.

The Dramatic Workshop plans to present a series of one-act plays after lent, and one was read during the meeting. No choice of plays has been made.

MANY HOUSEKEEPERS TOO ILL TO WORK

How Many Are Finding Relief from Weakness and Pain. Mrs. Brandenburg a Notable Case

MRS. EMIL O. BRANDENBURG
661 37TH STREET, MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.—"I was in a badly run-down condition and I would get weak spells and terrible headaches. I felt so badly last year that I could not do any housecleaning. The minute I would lift or stoop it seemed as if I was going to fall to pieces. I told a neighbor how I felt and she said that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was surely the right thing for me. I took four bottles then and in the fall of the year

I took three. I had been treated by a doctor, but he gave me an iron tonic and that did not help me. It seemed that the tonic did not have in it what the Vegetable Compound did. That gave me the strength and ambition I needed and I have gained in weight. This year before I started to clean house I got four bottles of the Vegetable Compound and am taking it right along. I tell all my friends about it and how much good it does me. They can notice it because I have gained in weight. I weigh 118 now and do all my work myself again."

—Mrs. EMIL O. BRANDENBURG, 661 37th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Earl's Recovery
Horace, Nebraska.—"I had terrible pains and backache, so bad that I could hardly move, and I would have to lie down at times. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was so sick that I thought I would try it. My husband knew it was good as he knew a woman it had helped. It took all my pains away and I don't have any backache now. I do my own housework, take care of a few chickens and my garden, and have a little girl three years old to look out for. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and I will answer all the questions I can, if anyone writes to me."

—Mrs. ADA EARL, Box 28, Horace, Nebraska.

Spring Roads Lead to Tailored Smartness

The tailored mode rules the day, American in origin, Parisian in subtlety of line and execution, this tailored simplicity expresses itself consistently throughout the Spring wardrobe. Every Paris opening has emphasized its importance in gowns and frocks, in coats and wraps, in ensemble costumes. Geenen's sponsors the vogue of tailored simplicity, presenting to Appleton the outstanding tailored fashions for Spring, with the correct tailored accessories.

The Frocks

Newer than any other single fashion—the simply tailored crepe frock, with its long sleeves and its air of casual correctness. It may be straight and beltless, or follow the two-piece line, or combine the two ideas, as many frocks do this season, with straight back and two-piece effect in front. Dark colors and black for day-time occasions. Pastel tones and high shades for afternoon and informal dinner wear. For women and misses. $10.75 to $49.75.

The Coats

Coats starts their fashionable career very straight and slim. Then, just because they're smart and brand new, they flare in varying degree from knee-line to hem. Even when they're tailored to the point of severity, there's a departure from the slender line that bespeaks fashion's flair for the flare. The double breasted Coats of tweeds, home-spuns, and kasha-like weaves, were inspired by the distinctive model a princely visitor wore. Women's and misses' sizes. $10.75 to $35.00.

The Skirt Ensemble

For youthful simplicity, one chooses the new shoulder strap skirt of bright flannel and matches it with a true peasant blouse of sheer voile embroidered in gay colors. These two are featured together as correct partners for the frock skirt, seeming to suggest the skirt of the peasant costume. Inverted pleats in front and small groups of pleats at the side give the necessary freedom. Skirts in tan, brown, burnt russet, red and navy. $6.75 and $10.75.

WANT HIGH SCHOOL GRID COACH TO BE DIRECTOR OF PLAY

Council Works With School Board to Keep Smith at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—The question of retaining Coach William Smith, director of athletics in the high school, in this city as playground director during the summer months was brought up at the monthly meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. James P. Cavanaugh, superintendent of the schools, appeared before the council asking that the city act jointly with the school board in keeping Smith with Kaukauna.

Members of the council recognized that the result of Mr. Smith's leaving in high school athletics in one year put Kaukauna on the map and the aldermen showed a willingness to arrange a plan which will induce Coach "Tiger Bill" to remain in the Electric City.

The mayor was authorized to appoint a committee from the council to meet with the teacher's committee of the board of education and with Mr. Smith to talk over the matter. The committee consists of A. R. Firehammer, W. H. Cooper, William Doering, W. H. Copp and H. Q. Wittmann. A meeting will be held at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the council chambers.

A petition of taxpayers was received asking for an arc light about the center of Wilson-st. between DuCharme-st and the Chicago North-western switch tracks. The petition was referred to the utilities commission.

ANDREWS OILERS WIN 3 GAMES FROM CREAMS

Kaukauna—Andrews Oil company bowlers won three straight games from Pendergast's Creams in a league game Monday evening. Pendergast's were way off form and rolled a score of only 2,287. The oil company did little better but garnered a total of 2,566. Tuesday evening the Runtz company won two out of three from the league leading Kaukauna Lumber company team scores:

POSTPONE SECOND DEBATE OF STATE TITLE TRIANGLE

Kaukauna—Because of the basketball tournament which will be held in Appleton on March 13, the second triangular debate in which Kaukauna participates has been postponed from that date to Monday evening, March 16. Kaukauna's affirmative team will travel to Berlin and the negative team will remain at home to debate with Shiocton.

The teams are putting a great deal of effort on debate this year and hope to survive the next triangle for a chance in the state contest. Another practice debate was held Tuesday afternoon in the assembly rooms with the student body as audience.

ENTER FOUR TEAMS IN FORESTER MEET

Knights of Columbus Tournament Also Attracts Kaukauna Bowlers

Kaukauna—Holy Cross court No. 309 Catholic Order of Foresters will enter four teams in the state Forester bowling tournament in Oshkosh. The teams are made up of some of the best bowlers in Kaukauna. The teams will roll in the tournament Sunday, April 5. In addition to participating in the five man events the bowlers have paired up for doubles and will also shoot singles.

The teams Hank's five—Eathan Brewster, R. J. VanEllis, Arthur Jones, H. O. Haessly and Henry Minkebege; Trustees—Joseph Drawanek, Elmer Maue, George M. Heindel, John O'Connor and Frank Mitche; Runtz's—Joseph Kuchelmeister, Carl Runtz, Otto Runtz, H. T. Runtz and Gregory Maue; Speakers—Roman Gillen, Leo Haessly, Aloys Bloch, Dan Pendergast and Henry Smith.

At least two teams from the Electric City will attend the state Knights of Columbus meet in Racine. Kaukauna is slated to hit the pins on Sunday, March 15. The teams have not yet been definitely picked but they will roll under as Grogan's Deputies and No. 1033.

The local Elk lodge is making plans to enter two or three teams in the Elk tournament to be held in Wausau in April. Bowling leaders are active now picking their men. One of the teams which will roll will be the Volsteads composed of R. H. McCarty, John Coppes, William VanLieshout, Mike Niesen, Joseph Jansen.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Thirty-two friends and neighbors were present at a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Engerson, 615 Desnoyer-st Sunday evening. Cards was played and prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Beebe, Emil Heft, Mrs. William Smith and Frank Perleberg. Honors at hearts were won by Mrs. John Van Dyke and Matt Hahn.

HIGH SCHOOL MAKES ANOTHER THRIFT RECORD

Kaukauna—The high school made another advance in its thrift record Tuesday when the institution secured a percentage of 85, one per cent higher than its previous record. Twelve of the sixteen classes depositing were 100 per cent thrifty. The thrift banner for the week was awarded to Miss Ethelyn Handran's English III class, members of which deposited $31.06.

The thrift campaign in the school will be continued in an effort to raise the thrift percentage still higher as only four classes fell below the perfect mark this week efforts will be concentrated to bring them into line. The 100 per cent classes this week were mechanical drawing II, W. T. Sullivan; English II, Ruth Nema-check; English III, Ethelyn Handran; domestic science II, Ruth Gibbons; domestic arts I, Carol Bowman; English I, Genevieve McGowan; modern history, Florence Bouda; typing III, Ann Glese; shorthand IV, Edith Porterfield; United States history, Clara Klosterman; west study room, H. A. Ludwig and library, Marcella Thom Ludwig and library, Marcella Thompson. The total turned in was $116.33.

WON'T CHARGE RENT FOR THIS YEAR'S LYCEUM

Kaukauna—The monthly meeting of the board of education was held Monday evening in the school offices. The question of rewriting the Park and Nicolet schools was discussed and it was voted to ask the industrial commission for an extension of time. The wiring in the schools was ordered several weeks ago when an inspector visited Kaukauna.

Representatives of the Lyceum course appeared before the board and asked for consideration in view of the fact the course has not been self supporting and that a huge financial burden had been placed upon the shoulders of the sponsors. The board voted to allow the use of the auditorium rent free for the entire course.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS
Kaukauna—Mrs. Lillian Sager returned home Saturday after spending a month visiting friends and relatives in Waukegan, Ill., and Wauaua. Mrs. Irvin Barker of Green Bay, was a visitor with relatives in Kaukauna Tuesday.

Mrs. Paul Graesser of Wausau, is a guest at the home of her mother, Mrs. Albert Sager. Mrs. Graesser has been ill for several weeks and is recuperating here.

MANCHESTER VISITED FAMED BERRY MARKET

New London — R. H. Manchester, who has been visiting in Florida since Jan. 15, has returned here and has reopened his photograph studio. While in Florida, Mr. Manchester visited in Jacksonville, Tampa, St. Petersburg and Orlando.

He reports weather conditions in Florida to be ideal. He states that the orange and grape fruit crop was being harvested while he was there, and that the water crop of strawberries has been on the market since Jan. 1. He visited Plant City, the latest winter strawberry market in the world.

HIGHS WILL PLAY IOLA TO GROOM FOR APPLETON MEET

Game Will Be Played at New London Friday Night—Appleton Paired for Tourney

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Due to selection of the local high school basketball team for the Appleton tournament, another game has been scheduled for the Red and White squad. Iola high school will invade New London Friday night, where it will play at Knights of Columbus hall. Iola has a strong team, and so the local fans are assured of another good game on Friday night.

New London received its official notice of the tournament Monday. The games will all be played in Appleton, the five man events competing on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12, 13, and 14.

All of the eight teams have been paired off for their first game. New London high school will meet Appleton high school in the opener on Thursday night. This will be the Red and White's hardest game this season.

Plans will be made to take high school students to the games providing they signify their desire to attend.

BOY SCOUT RALLY NOW SET MARCH 19

Illness of Scoutmaster and Scheduling of Game Makes Change Necessary

New London—Due to the illness of Scoutmaster H. P. Freeling, and also to the scheduling of a basketball game by the local high school in the Knights of Columbus hall Friday night, the boy scout rally of group 2 has again been postponed until Thursday evening, March 19.

The rally will be held without the showing of the scout motion picture, "The Reward of Thrift," due to the fact that the reels must be returned this week. The remainder of the program will, however, be given as scheduled. Cake and ice cream will be served to the audience following the rally.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in London, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 50c.

WAUPACA SHERIFF LOCATES STOLEN AUTO AT BERLIN

Thief Abandons Fritz Thunell Car When Wiring of Engine Becomes Disabled

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—Sheriff William Toepke recovered the Ford coupe stolen Saturday night near the Soo line station in this city, belonging to Fritz Thunell of Iola. The car was found on the outskirts of Berlin about 40 miles south of Waupaca, Monday afternoon.

Mr. Thunell drove to the Soo line station Saturday to meet a person coming on the midnight train. He left his car parked close by and entered the waiting room to determine if the train was on time. Finding it was late he went out and found that his car had disappeared. Evidently the thief or thieves were in waiting. The sheriff found that the wiring in the car had become disconnected in such a place as to disable the motor for further driving and the driver had to abandon his trip, otherwise the recovery would probably not have been made. The owner carried no insurance.

Scoutmaster Seth Ballard met with the boys organizing boy scout troop No. 2, at the Baptist church Monday night and completed plans for the organization. Twelve boys have made application for membership and the scoutmaster will send their names to national headquarters for approval. It is understood all boys have passed the preliminary tests.

Teams in Waupaca bowling league stand as follows at the start of the last month of play.

Team	Won	Lost	Percent
Hawks	25	8	.756
Tigers	22	11	.667

Cubs	16	17	.485
Kittens	16	17	.485
Eagles	15	18	.454
Wildcats	13	20	.394
Pirates	8	25	.242

The schedule for the next week is as follows:

Thursday, March 5, Cubs vs. Wildcats; Friday, March 6, Hawks vs. Badgers; Monday, March 9, Cubs vs. Kittens; Tuesday, March 10, Badgers vs. Wildcats.

Miss Jennie Chady is taking a vacation from her duties at the Fair store and has gone to Whitewater to visit at the home of her brother, Ernest Chady.

Mrs. Myron Harrington returned from Amherst with her little daughter Helen who fractured her arm while visiting at that village some time ago. The child is getting along nicely now.

Sheriff Toepke accompanied Clarence Parish to the Soldiers Memorial hospital at Madison Monday. Mr. Parish will remain there indefinitely for treatment.

STAGE And SCREEN

"THAT FRENCH LADY" ADAPTED FROM "THE STRANGE WOMAN"

"That French Lady," the William Fox production starring Shirley Mason, at the New Bijou Theatre today and Thursday is an adaptation of the well known stage play, "The Strange Woman," by William J. Hurlbut.

The petite William Fox star is rarely so lucky in obtaining a role so thoroughly moulded for her as that of Inez DePierrefond, the little French woman from whom the picture takes its name. Chic, wearing an abundance of stunning clothes, Shirley fairly dances through this screen play with the vivaciousness that is characteristic of her. Bright, alert and full of fire, she gives the performance of the typical high strung Parisienne in a most convincing manner. Then, too, when the moment comes for more serious business, Miss Mason demonstrates again that sealed in that little lithe figure is a veritable hurricane of emotions. "That French Lady" is one of the best things that the Fox star has made and Edmund Mortimer, the director, deserves credit.

"MARRIED FLIRTS"

An unusually popular cast is featured in "Married Flirts," the Metro Goldwyn picture which Robert G. Vignola directed and which is coming to the Elite Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

Pauline Frederick, internationally known dramatic actress, appears in the title role.

Conrad Nagel has the part of Percy Rev, a young American business man, the male lead in the story. Nagel was recently seen in the leading part in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles."

Mae Busch is cast as Jill Wetherell, brilliantly vivacious girl about whom many of the most important scenes of the story are woven.

Huntley Gordon depicts the role of Pendleton Wayne, similar to the parts he presented so convincingly in "The Famous Mrs. Fair" and "Pleasure Mad."

Paul Nicholson characterizes "Granny," which is a role as interesting and intriguing as the title suggested.

"Married Flirts" was written by Louis Joseph Vance and was adapted to the screen by Julia Crawford Ivers. It is presented by Louis B. Mayer.

"RAIN"
The difference between presentation and representation by a book and a play on the same theme is well brought out in "RAIN."

The book in this case was called "Miss Thompson," by Somerset Maugham, who wrote it, and in it he described, by way of "atmosphere," the steady downpour from the clouds and its depressing effect. But this appealed to audiences of only one at a time, and then in proportion to the mental power of that one to visualize description.

John Colton and Clarence Randolph when they made the story into a play, called it "Rain," and the resources of the stage were drawn upon to produce the semblance thereof, and succeeded in a way that gets on the nerves of the spectators, and makes them feel the jumpiness of the characters.

With the rain as a symbol and a background, the stage setting is continuously the same for the three acts in the house of the American trader in general stores. He and his native wife, the native attendants, the marines from the post pass through this scene, but they too, are only incidental to the play of fat and circumstance on Sadie Thompson, who is trying to escape her past and the missionary, Davidson, who thinks it his duty to brand it in still deeper in her soul.

"RAIN" will be the attraction at Fischers Appleton Theater Friday, March 6.

STURDY BACK OF CAR OWNER BENDING UNDER TAX BURDEN

Every Day in Every Way Taxes Are Getting Heavier and Heavier

Automobile driving may soon come to be regarded as a crime if lawmakers are permitted to continue persecuting the poor automobile, is the wall of hundreds of automobile owners, following the deluge of bills at each session of legislature. Most of the proposed automobile legislation is never passed, and how many of the bills now before legislature that are certain of passage is indefinite. Yet some of the motorists now unconcerned over the pending legislation are bound to have an awakening after the lawmaking mill at Madison shuts down for another two-year period of idleness. The repeal of the personal property offset in the income tax bill is the law which, if adopted, will probably delay the solar plexus blow to the automotive motorist. By it he would be required to pay not only the personal property tax on his car but also the full amount of his income tax.

AND STILL ANOTHER Motorists since the previous session of legislature have been made to pay a weight tax on automobiles in lieu of the flat license fee. When the weight tax law was passed it was said to take the place of a gasoline tax. Now, however, the gasoline tax is up again and the sagging automobile owner may find himself saddled with both taxes.

Another bill directed against the motorist is the highway privilege bill, similar to the Chicago "wheel tax" which will enable cities to attach an additional fee on the automobile for the privilege of using the streets.

Many drivers are, however, considerably in accord with the proposed law to license automobile drivers. The fee will amount to only 25 cents, and the bill, if passed, is expected to eliminate the physically and mentally incompetent class of drivers and tend to reduce accidents.

Another measure would compel the automobile owner to carry auto liability insurance, which is feared by some motorists because it would tend to increase accidents by decreasing care in driving and would increase the rate of insurance.

A move in legislature to compel motorists to stop at all railroad crossings was defeated recently, on the grounds that such a law would shift the entire responsibility from the railroads to the automobilist.

GLEE CLUB SINGS HOME CONCERT ON MARCH 10

Tickets for the home concert of the Lawrence Men's 1925 Glee club scheduled for March 10, have been placed on sale by Wayne H. Parker, 26, of Marshfield, manager of the club.

The club will present the program given on the northern trip. The program is varied, with violin, saxophone, and baritone solos as feature numbers. The favorite song is "The Sea," arranged from the poem by McLeod, according to club members.

EGGERT ALONE IN RACE FOR 2ND WARD ALDERMAN

William Eggert, alderman from the Second ward, has filed nomination papers with the city clerk. Eggert's papers were the first filed from his ward. Indications are that competition will be keen in many wards, especially the First and Sixth, while in others nominations may be uncontested.

GAS IN STOMACH HURTS THE HEART

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion, Says Medical Writer.

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal! When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains. Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas in your system and should always be given prompt and careful attention. To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity—nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bismarck Bismarck Magnesia—recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 13 years.

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading prepared for Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

Read Luke 5:17-26, Text 5:24. But that ye may know that the Son of man hath authority on earth to forgive sins.

MEDITATION - This sick man and his friends asked for healing of the body, but Jesus looked within and saw a greater need. He saw a longing for forgiveness greater than for bodily healing. Jesus read the heart. It is always hard for us to remember that the ill of this world are far more spiritual than material and that if we have spiritual health, material things will largely care for themselves. This man confessed his need. This made possible his salvation. An honest confession opens the door to God's forgiving grace. "Sins that are unconfessed shut out the energies of grace. Confession makes the soul receptive to the bountiful waters of life. The soul that makes confession to Christ is washed through and through and the seeds of iniquity are driven out." PRAYER - Lord Jesus, breathe upon us thy healing breath that we may be cleansed from sin and sickness. Reveal thy power in the lives of men. Give us the sense of thy companionship that our voices may be full of gladness and that we may rejoice on our way. Amen. (Copyright, 1925—P. L. Farley)

NEW LISBON FIRM GETS RHINELANDER SCHOOL JOB

George L. Smith of Smith and Brandt, local architects, returned Sunday night from Rhineland where he was present at the opening of the bids for the first unit of the new junior high school in that city. The Appleton firm designed the school.

Thirty bids were submitted to the joint meeting of the board of public works and board of education on Thursday. Contracts were awarded as follows: general work, W. H. Farley, New Lisbon; plumbing, Oneida Plumbing and Heating Co.; electrical wiring, Bernard Ahlman, Rhineland. The heating, vacuum cleaning, marble and terrazzo contract will be let on March 12.

COMPLETE STANDARDIZING OF HYDRANT COUPLINGS

Alteration work on the coupling system of Appleton water hydrants practically has been completed, according to Fred R. Morris, assistant secretary to the water commission. The hydrants at the mills and the county academy will be completed this week, which will finish the operations. This work was undertaken to comply with a recent recommendation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which urges that threads on all fire hydrants be of standard size.

Miss Vera Luedtke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Luedtke of Center, submitted to an operation at St. Elizabeth hospital.

Mrs. Theodore Arens, 617 Lincoln st., Neenah, formerly of Appleton, who has been ill for some time, is recuperating.

Came Home to Die

"Three years ago I came home thinking 2 or 3 weeks would be my limit to live. I had suffered for 15 years from colic attacks and severe liver and stomach trouble. I happened to see an advertisement of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and purchased a bottle at the drug store and after taking the first dose I felt better than I had for 15 years. I am now in the best of health—thanks to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. VAPOR COOLING OF AUTO ENGINES MAY BE NEXT BIG STEP

Engineers Have Worked Out Way to Overcome Hot Engine Problem

Frozen radiators in winter and overheated engines in summer may become mere memories, if the suggestion of some automotive engineers is adopted.

The suggestion concerns the adoption of a vapor-cooling system for automobiles. In place of the water-cooling system now in vogue, vapor cooling is advocated.

Vapor cooling is advocated simply, it is low cost and its effectiveness.

It requires no pumps, such as the water-cooling system in larger cars needs. It is a simple method of warming up the engine quickly.

It keeps the engine at a constant operating temperature, irrespective of the load on the engine, or of weather conditions. And it has a slow rate of cooling down after the engine has been stopped.

These are the advantages its sponsors claim for it.

USED ON FARMS

The system is now used in connection with a popular system of local farm-lighting plants, more than 12,000 of which are said to be in successful operation. The vapor-cooling system requires nothing extra on the automobile engine. No pumping is needed, it is simple and it rises to the top and, as it does, it is carried on to the radiator where it is condensed. There is no boiling away or loss of water in this system, say its advocates.

SHERIFF WILL SELL MORE TOY COMPANY FURNITURE

Two more sheriff's sales will be added to the growing list of foreclosures and forced auctions of property belonging to the Toy Company of America to satisfy claims of creditors. They will be held on Mar. 5 and Mar. 10. A typewriter, an adding machine and a steel safe will be sold at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, while at 10 o'clock on the morning of Mar. 10, five toymaking machines will be offered for sale.

The sale of the office appliances will be to satisfy a claim of the John Strange Paper Co. of Neenah for $187.70.

More than 300 autos have been fitted with this system, all with the radiator in the conventional position, where the steam was able to enter through the top and flow down in condensed form to the bottom. Even the hottest part of the engine, above the exhaust valves, could be kept down to a safe temperature. Although slightly higher than the temperature of the rest of the block.

Despite these advantages of the vapor-cooling system, it shows no signs as yet of being accepted for general adoption. The reason, say its engineer defenders, is not in the system, but in the production and use. It is a commercial disadvantage, rather than technical, they contend.

Manufacturers have to be convinced not only as to system's practicability, but its salability.

SIX CONTRACTORS BID FOR WORK OF INSTALLING SEWERS

Council Defers Action so Proposals Can Be Tabulated

Menasha—Six bids for construction of new sewers were opened at the monthly meeting of the common council Tuesday evening, but action upon them was deferred until Friday evening, March 6, in order to give the city engineer time to tabulate them.

The fire and city hall committee submitted a sketch of plans for the proposed new police station and was instructed to consult an architect with reference to them. The application of Walter Smolinski for a license to sell soft drinks in the Laund building on Racine st. was rejected.

The water and light committee was instructed to install three street lights on Third st. between Racine and Manitowish. The usual number of tax rebates were referred to the committee of the whole. An invitation to attend a meeting of Henry J. Lenz post of the American legion at Eagle hall Friday night was accepted.

Monthly bills were allowed and the treasurer's report was accepted and placed on file.

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

Menasha—The next party to be given by the Menasha club will take place on St. Patrick day. The committee in charge will consist of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Spengler, chairman, Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Loomans, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rike, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Studier, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Thrilling, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Zimmer, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Milner and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brooks.

The Monday club held its weekly meeting Monday evening at the home of Fred C. Walter, 200 Ahnaip-st. Cards were played and the prizes were won by Mrs. J. P. Hrubesky and Mrs. George Pierce.

A meeting of young men of Menasha and Neenah will be held at S. A. Cook armory Wednesday evening at which steps will be taken for the organization of a Twin City Shrine club. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock.

The Elks lodge will elect new officers at its meeting Wednesday evening. The election will be followed by a stag.

Thirty young ladies employed in the office of Menasha Printing & Carton company entertained at dinner Tuesday evening at the company's gymnasium. Cards and dancing followed.

CHICAGO MAN OFFERED JOB AS PLAYGROUND HEAD

Menasha—At a meeting of the new recreational council in the city offices Tuesday evening the chairman and secretary were instructed to offer the position of director to Raymond Charles Miller, an experienced playground director of Chicago, on terms agreed to on a visit here the first of the week.

The recreational and playground program will be extended so as to include the baseball park and the indications are that the new recreational council will succeed the former recreational commission of the common council. The matter was discussed at the meeting Tuesday evening.

BASEBALL MEN MEET IN FONDY TO FORM LEAGUE

Menasha—Another meeting to discuss baseball will be held at Fond du Lac next Friday evening at which it is expected the new Wisconsin baseball league will be organized. Several teams of the Fox river valley will be included in the league. Menasha will be represented at the meeting by W. H. Pierce, president of Menasha Baseball association, and others.

MENASHA PERSONALS

Raymond Schrage, who is in the employ of a Des Moines, Ia. furnace company, has been called in by his employers to familiarize himself with how the furnaces are made. He left for Des Moines the first of the week and will be absent for several weeks.

159 FAMILIES GET RED CROSS HELP

Menasha—Seventy-four families were assisted in January and 85 in February by the home service department of Menasha chapter of the American Red Cross, according to a report submitted by Miss Edna M. Robertson, secretary, at the meeting of the board of directors at Hotel Menasha Monday evening which was preceded by a dinner.

The reports were:
January—Families dealt with, 74; interviews, 201; family welfare cases, 8; bonus applications, 21; other information service, 8; civilian cases, 33; health concerned, 35; mothers pensions, 4; family problems, 2.

A report of the advisory committee was submitted also by E. F. Saecker.

WOODENWARE SCOUTS HOLD SEPARATE DRILLS

Menasha—Boy scouts of Menasha Woodmenware company, which were divided into two troops, Nos. 8 and 9, at the last meeting because of their increased numbers, drilled separately at their meeting at the company's cafeteria Tuesday evening. The drillmaster is Matt Auer.

Earl Gomron was selected as assistant scoutmaster of Troop 8. Floyd Burrows is assistant scoutmaster of Troop 9 and entered upon his new duties Tuesday evening. Routine matters were considered at the business session.

TAG DAY NETS $1,231 FOR FREE BED FUND

Menasha—The receipts of the recent tag day conducted in the Twin Cities by the Twin City Emergency society were $1,231.70. The total receipts for the annual three tag days were $3,486.70. The money is used for the endowment of a free bed at Theda Clark hospital.

20 WANT JOBS AS COUNTY MOTORCOPS

Approximately 20 applications, from all over the state, already have been received for the position of county motorcycle officer, according to a report from the county highway office. Appointments, however, will have to wait until appropriations have been made to cover their salaries. The appropriation for 1924 was $2,400. The county board, which makes the appropriation, will meet on Tuesday Apr. 14, when it is expected three motorcycle officers will be appointed.

GAINOR WILL FILE FOR PROBATE IN COUNTY COURT

The will of Michael Gainor was scheduled for probate in the regular term of county court which was opened by Judge Fred V. Heinemann Tuesday morning. The calendar also includes petitions for administration of the estates of Louise Bauhs, John McCoy, Louis Lau, Hannah Bungert, Orville Morris.

There will be hearings of claims against the estates of Michael Demerath, William Forbeck, Thomas Dunn, William Reddin, John Jenkel, Julius Klatt, Franziska Weber, Thomas J. Franklin, Mary Schmitt and Anna Gaschler, and preferred claims against the estate of Arnold and Johanna Strick, Ida Fink, G. T. Moskoske, Fred Riege, Michael Dietler, Albert Morack, Fannie Friedman, Henry Kurrasch, John Schneider, Robert Butler, Christian Seitz, John Hardy, Anna Jochman and Sarah Stacey, L. Fuller.

A petition for sale of real estate to pay debts owed by the estate of Jonas James is to be heard, and final account is to be rendered on the estates of Anna Hruschka, Clara Masche, Sophie Sedo, Charles Masche, Anna K. Aiel and Charles de Koch.

DR SANDBORN DISCUSSES X-RAY AT MEDICAL MEETING

Dr. J. M. Sandborn, X-ray specialist of Appleton and president-elect of the North American Radiological society, spoke before the Fox River Wisconsin County Medical society Tuesday evening at the Beaumont hotel in Green Bay. The subject of the address was "The Present Status of the X-ray in Medical and Surgical Diagnosis." In connection with this address there were shown a motion picture demonstrating the major phenomena of the stomach observed during its examination by X-ray and fluoroscope. Physicians from adjoining counties were invited to attend.

Motorboat Club Meeting
There will be a meeting of the Appleton Motorboat club at 7:30 Thursday evening in the club room. Special business will be discussed, and all members are requested to be present. Officers have announced.

Hold Lenten Service
Special lenten services will be held at Mount Olive Lutheran church at 7:45 Wednesday evening. The Rev. Ph. A. C. Frieschke, pastor of St. Matthew Lutheran church, will be in charge. Clear parties will be held immediately after the service.

TWO AUTOMOBILES RUN OVER WOMEN CROSSING STREET

One Car Knocks Them Down and Another Runs Over Prostrate Forms

Neenah—Two young women were badly cut and bruised early Wednesday morning when they were knocked down and run over by two automobiles as they were stepping off a bus to go to their work at the Badger mill of the Kimberly-Clark Co. The young women, Miss Elenore Zeneiski, 744 DePerest, Menasha, and Miss Anna Wroblewski, Third-st, Menasha, are in Theda Clark hospital suffering with bruises and cuts. One of the drivers drove away without stopping after running over the girls but the other driver's machine ran into a post and was quite badly damaged.

The girls alighted from the bus parked on the west side of the street and were walking across the highway when they were struck by a car driven by William Wenzel, Chute-st, Menasha, and knocked to the pavement. Wenzel's car crashed into a post. At the same time another car, coming from the opposite direction, ran over the prostrate girls and drove away before his license number could be obtained.

The young women were taken to a hospital where it was found that no bones were broken. Miss Zeneiski suffered a severe laceration of the scalp.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Officers will be elected Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Neenah-Menasha Elks. Following the business session a "stag" will be held for the members during which cards will be played. The committee in charge of the affair is Willis Hume, George Rasmussen and George Littlefield.

The Eastern Star will meet Wednesday evening. This is the regular session of the order.

The Fox river skat club will hold a meet Sunday afternoon in Neenah Eagle hall. Players from all clubs of the valley have been invited to attend.

The Charles Eltonk class of ten members will be initiated at the Thursday evening meeting of the Neenah Eagles. The membership of the lodge has reached the 750 mark.

The Jolly Rambler club will be entertained Thursday evening by Mrs. Fred Kuehl at her home on Washington-ave. Cards will be the feature of the evening.

Mrs. Paul Schwerin and her brother Clarence Schultz, entertained at a dinner Tuesday evening in the home of the former. Bond-st. The affair was in honor of their birthday anniversaries. Following the dinner the evening was spent in a general social manner.

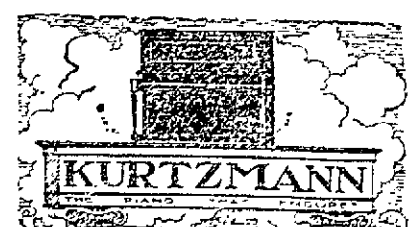

Trinity Lutheran ladies' society will meet in the church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A supper will be served at 6 o'clock and the evening will be spent in a social manner. The affair is in honor of an anniversary of the society.

The Jolly Eight card club was entertained Tuesday evening by Mrs. Robert Martens, West Doty-ave. Schafkopf was played, prizes going to Mrs. Henry Kruse and Mrs. Grant Nutter.

Mrs. Charles Hanke entertained the Afternoon Schafkopf club at her home, 418 West North-st, Tuesday. Honors were won by Miss Emma Thines, Mrs. Albert Goesser and Mrs. James McMahon.

SOPHS AND SENIORS WIN BY ONE-SIDED SCORE

As money earns interest, it grows faster and faster!

We present the following table to show how an investment of $10.00 per month over a period of five years, with interest monies reinvested and compounded will accumulate at 6% under our Partial Payment Plan in buying high grade bonds:

No. of Months	Total Deposits	Interest Accrued and Reinvested	Total Value
10	$100.	$ 2.25	$102.25
20	200.	7.63	207.63
30	300.	13.30	313.30
40	400.	31.55	431.55
50	500.	56.71	556.71
60 — 5 Yrs.	600.	89.05	689.05

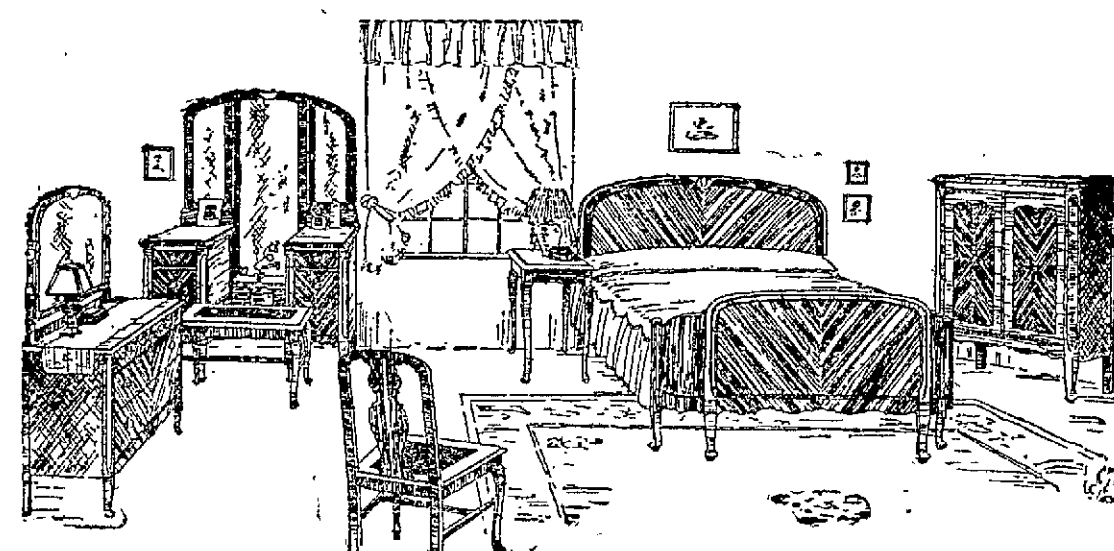

The Partial Payment way of investing is very desirable as it fits the means of all investors—10% down, 10% a month being a minimum plan. ($100, $500, $1000 Bonds).

Interest is allowed on all payments at the same rate as that of the investment selected.

We invite you to consider this plan and shall be pleased to explain it to you.

ORANGE OPENS DISTRICT RACE WITH NEW LONDON

Brandon-New London Contest Second On First Day's Program

Winner of West Green Bay-Kaukauna Tilt Will Play Either Brandon or Appleton for Title

SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT SCHEDULE
Appleton vs. New London.
Mendota vs. Clintonville.
West Green Bay vs. Kaukauna.

New London high school will oppose the Appleton high five in the opening game of the Lawrence college sectional tournament on Thursday afternoon at 12 in Armory G, according to the schedule announced by the Lawrence athletic authorities. Brandon will meet New Holstein in the other afternoon game. Menasha will clash with Clintonville and West Green Bay will tilt Kaukauna in the feature game of the day's play, in the evening tilt.

New London's five which opposes Appleton in the first game comes to the tournament with a record of seven victories in eleven starts. Four games were lost by small margins and the Edison city cagers are determined to win in the final series. Four of their players are veterans of last year's team. Brandon, the team which made last year's star Orange county play one of its best games to win the sectional honors by a ten point margin brings the same crew to Appleton this year with the exception of one man. They have run up the imposing record of 17 straight victories to the season's play.

In New Holstein, Brandon will meet a team that while never a contender here, has been a consistent challenger in the semi-finals each year defeating the crack West Green Bay five in the biggest upset of the tournament last year.

Menasha and Clintonville are evenly matched with the honors slightly in favor of the Paul City boys because of a decisive victory over the Clintonville team late in the season. The last game of the evening's play should be the best of the opening tilt. West Green Bay's conquerors of Appleton in a Fox River valley conference will meet the strong Kaukauna five the valley's leading independent high school team and classed with the pick of the conference. The Paul City boys have exhibited some of the best play seen in the valley this year and the Bays will have to step to beat them. This game probably will determine one of the entrants in the final Appleton and Brandon will meet in the second day's play to determine the other finalist if the hope is not upset at Mendota. Appleton, West Green Bay, Kaukauna and Brandon easily are the class of the meet and all indications point to one of the closest final games ever played at a section four meet here with the winner of the West Green Bay-Kaukauna tilt playing either Appleton or Brandon for the title. The contest will be being made by the college authorities to handle an extra large crowd. Programs already are in the hands of the printer.

Sea-going Golf They Call It. And It's Being Played With Much Fervor on Florida Courses These Days

ON THE "GREEN" IN SEA GOING GOLF.

Here we have the latest thing in sports—sea-going golf. It is now being played down in Florida and is said to be a most interesting pastime. The game is played from a boat and the ball spends its time in the water, being lifted from one wave to another with an ordinary golf club. Cups are located at various intervals and it is necessary to putt on the "blue" to sink the pellet, the same rules applying as in the actual game. Photo shows two devotees of this novel sport playing a round on the "sea course" at Ormond Beach.

Sammy Mandell Must Be Considered For Title

Rockford Lightweight Though Not in Elimination Tournament Is Serious Contender

New York—Though Sammy Mandell, 21-year-old lightweight pugilist, is not taking part in the elimination tournament to decide a successor to Benny Leonard, he must nevertheless be reckoned with in the 133 pound division.

Pact is, Mandell today stacks up as one of the best men in the section. His rather surprising defeat of Sid Terris recently stamped him as a contender of promise.

Terris had been picked by most of the experts to hand Mandell a beating. But the latter left no question as to the relative merits of the two boys by decisively trimming Terris. It was in the nature of a real upset. When Mandell returned to Rockford, Ill. his home a short time ago, the entire community turned out to pay him homage. From the mayor down they came and Mandell was paraded through the streets and feted by various civic organizations.

Mandell has been in the ring past time since 1920. He boasts a good record having beaten some of the best boys in the lightweight class. More over, he seems to be improving all the time.

Mandell shapes up as one of the best prospects at 133 pounds the game has produced in some years. And since his triumph over Terris experts are touting him strongly and predicting that he stands an excellent chance to wear Leonard's old crown as lightweight king.

A match between Mandell and the winner of the elimination tournament for the championship now looms across the boxing horizon. And it wouldn't be at all surprising if such a bout were staged in the not too distant future.

TWELVE CORNERS MEETS BLACK CREEK CITY TEAM

After swallowing defeat administered last week by the Lemon Squeezers Appleton, the Twelve Corners basketball team is training for what is expected to be one of its hardest games of the season. The team will meet the city team of Black Creek Saturday night on the Twelve Corners floor. The defeat by the Appleton team last week was attributed to the absence of two regular players who were ill with the grip.

New York—Jimmy Malone, Boston heavyweight scored a decision over Dan Bright of England in six rounds. Ed Eiley Bridgeport Conn. knocked out Jack Smith, Los Angeles in one round.

SCHAEFER REIGNS AS BILLIARD KING BY BEATING HOPPE

New Champ Made Poor Showing at Opening but Final 296 Run Won Match

Chicago — A new king reigns Wednesday in the realm of 18 1/2 ball billiards. He is Young Jake Schaefer, scion of a royal billiard family, who wears the crown by virtue of his defeat of the Veteran Willie Hoppe 400 to 173 in eight innings in the closing match of the eleventh international tournament. It was Hoppe's second defeat by Schaefer in 17 years.

Schaefer's record showed five straight victories and no defeats. Edouard Hoemans, Belgian champion, who eliminated Hoppe from title consideration Monday won second honors.

The new champion was off stroke in the early innings of his match Tuesday night and trailed until the final inning when he went out with a run of 296, playing with perfect technique.

Hoemans took second place by defeating Drich Hagenlacher, German champion, 400 to 234 in eight innings in the afternoon. His victory gives him the right to challenge the new champion.

INDUSTRIAL LEAGUE SCHEDULE
Fox River Paper Co. vs. Shoe Fitters

Citizens Bank vs. Coated Paper Co. Island Paper Co. vs. Valley Sports Fox River Paper Co.'s undefeated team meets the strengthened Shoe Fitter quint in the first game of the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basketball league on the "Y" floor Wednesday evening. The Shoe Fitters finally have hit their stride and will attempt to make it interesting for the 1925 champions. The second game of the evening should be one of the best of the league schedule when the second place Citizens Bank five meets the first Coated Paper quint. The Coated team has won its last three games and went into a tie for third place last Wednesday by beating the Island Paper crew. One of the league's strongest outfits, Island Paper Co. meets the Valley Sports in the final game of the evening. The Islanders have been in a slump for the last few weeks and good game may be expected. The first game starts at 7:15.

JOE BUSH WILL PLAY ON HIS FOURTH CLUB

Philadelphia — Joe Bush, onetime star hurler for Connie Mack's Athletics, will be appearing in his fourth different major league uniform this season.

Bush has been with the Athletics, Red Sox and Yankees and the coming campaign will find him with the St. Louis Browns. It will be his fourth season in the majors.

Bush ranks high in the matter of world series participation. All told he has been five of the classes, with the Athletics in 1913-14, Red Sox 1918 and with the Yankees in 1922-23.

Hartford Conn.—Phil Kaplan, New York knocked out "Rocky" Smith, Battle Creek, Mich., in the eleventh round.

Orange Will Battle Fond du Lac Here In Final Game Of Year

Crimson Will Play Appleton at Armory G in Contest for Second Place in Conference

When Fond du Lac high school invades Armory G Friday night, the Appleton five will fight for second place in the Fox River valley conference. Suspensions and dismissals of veterans in crucial games spoiled the Orange chances for the title but after the showing made at Oshkosh last week when Appleton defeated the Sawdust City schoolers on their home court, promises to land the Orange one rung below the top.

While Fond du Lac is said to have the classiest team in the conference, Appleton defeated the Crimson on its own floor in a previous game. At that time Courtney and Fraser still were on the Orange squad, while this time they will be missing. Kneip and Reetz took their places in the Oshkosh game, and comparison of scores indicates they did better than their predecessors.

Tuesday night the Orange scrimmaged Guy Barlow's second stringers. They have been practicing short shots and short passing for the greater part of the week, and look good on the practice floor. If they are able to strike the same pace against Fond du Lac here that they displayed in Oshkosh, they are doped to win.

The Fond du Lac contest will be the last of the conference schedule, and it looks as though all previous attendance records at high school games will be broken. Fond du Lac will be out to even its score with the Orange while the outcome will decide the holders of second place. This promises a hot game as a fitting climax to a season of surprises.

KINGSBURY COPS 200-CLUB LEAD

Lawrence College Cross-country Star Topples 243 Pins

A new king appeared in the ranks of the "200" club of the Y. M. C. A. composed of legions who hit the coveted mark or over on the association alleyway, when D. Kingsbury, Lawrence college crosscountry and distance star, topped at 243. This mark, with another rolled during the same month by Sydney Shannon, are two of the highest of the last few months' competition. Shannon's mark, which gave him second place for February, was 236. Third place went to John Shannon with a mark of 226. John Shannon also ranked as the month's most consistent legler with six records over the 200 mark, one less than his last month's record when he also lead the club. Only seven men made the coveted mark this month, however, the smallest number of the season.

February's members are D. Kingsbury, 243, Sidney Shannon, 226, 201, 236 and 204, John Shannon, 217, 202, 222, 213, 202 and 226, W. Bergacker, 208; Ev Strutz 221, R. Currie, 205; D. Gomer, 203.

MICHIGAN HOCKEY TEAM SPOILS GOPHERS' HOPES

By Associated Press
Minneapolis — Michigan's classy hockey team scored a 1 to 0 victory over Minnesota, here Tuesday night, ruined the Gophers' chance for a third straight Big Ten title. The defeat was the first chalked up against the Gophers this season and in victory Michigan established a clear cut claim to the Big Ten championship. The winning score came in the third period, a beautiful single handed effort by Captain Peterman of the Wolverines.

COOLIDGE PLEDGES ADMINISTRATION TO CUT TAXES

New President Promises To Promote World Peace

Era of Prosperity Is Just Ahead, Coolidge Declares in His Inaugural Address in Washington

Washington, D. C.—Following is the text of President Coolidge's inaugural address:

My Countrymen—No one can contemplate current conditions without feeling much that is satisfying and still more that is encouraging. Our own country is leading the world in the general readjustment to the results of the great conflict. Many of its burdens will bear heavily upon us for years, and the secondary and indirect effects we must expect to experience for some time. But we are beginning to comprehend more distinctly what course should be pursued, what remedies ought to be applied, what actions should be taken for our deliverance, and are clearly manifesting a determined will faithfully and conscientiously to adopt these methods of relief. Already we have sufficiently rearranged our domestic affairs so that confidence has returned, business has revived, and we appear to be entering an era of prosperity which is gradually reaching into every part of the Nation. Realizing that we can not live unto ourselves alone, we have contributed of our resources and our counsel to the relief of the suffering and the settlement of the disputes among the European nations. Because of what America is and what America has, we have a firmer courage, a higher hope, inspires the heart of all humanity.

These results have not occurred by mere chance. They have been secured by a constant and enlightened effort marked by many sacrifices and extending over many generations. We can not continue the brilliant successes in the future unless we continue to learn from the past. It is necessary to keep the former experiences of our country both at home and abroad continually before us, if we are to have any science of government. If we wish to erect new structures, we must have a definite knowledge of the old foundations. We must realize that human nature is about the most constant thing in the universe and that the essentials of human relationship do not change. We must frequently take our bearings from these fixed stars of our political firmament if we expect to hold a true course. If we examine carefully what we have done, we can determine the more accurately what we can do.

We stand at the opening of the one hundred and fiftieth year since our national consciousness first asserted itself by unmistakable action with an array of force. The old sentiment of detached and dependent colonies disappeared in the new sentiment of united and independent Nation. Men began to discard the narrow confines of a local charter for the broader opportunities of a national constitution. Under the eternal urge of freedom we became an independent Nation. A little less than 50 years later that freedom and independence were reasserted in the face of all the world and guarded against attack by the Monroe doctrine. The narrow fringes of States along the Atlantic seaboard advanced its frontiers across the hills and plains of an intervening continent until it passed down the golden slope to the Pacific. We made freedom a birthright. We extended our domain over distant islands in order to safeguard our own interests and accepted the consequent obligation to bestow justice and liberty upon less favored peoples. In the defense of our own ideals and in the general cause of liberty we entered the Great War. When victory had been fully secured, we withdrew to our own shores unrepentant save in the consciousness of duty alone.

Throughout all these experiences we have enlarged our freedom, we have strengthened our independence. We have been, and propose to be, more and more American. We believe that we can best serve our own country and most successfully discharge our obligations to humanity by continuing to be openly and candidly, intensely and scrupulously, American. If we have any heritage, it has been that if we have any destiny, we have found it in that direction.

But if we wish to continue to be distinctly American, we must continue to make that term comprehensive enough to embrace the legitimate desires of a civilized and enlightened people determined in all their relations to pursue a conscientious and religious life. We can not permit ourselves to be narrowed and dwarfed by slogans and phrases. It is not the adjective, but the substantive which is of real importance. It is not the name of the action, but the result of the action, which is the chief concern. It will be well not to be too much disturbed by the thought of either isolation or entanglement of pacifists and militarists. The political configuration of the earth has separated us from all of the Old World, but the common brotherhood of man, the highest law of all our being, has united us by inseparable bonds with all humanity. Our country represents nothing but peaceful intentions toward all the earth, but it ought not to fail to maintain such a military force as comports with the dignity and security of a great people. It ought to be a balanced force, inferior to none, capable of defense by sea and land, beneath the surface and in the air. That it should be so conducted that all the world may see in it, not a menace but an instrument of security and peace.

This nation believes in an honorable peace under which the rights of its citizens are to be everywhere pro-

Presidential Oath

Washington.—The oath of office of the President of the United States is prescribed by the Constitution, and in that form has been pronounced by every President from Washington to Coolidge. It is as follows:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

When President Coolidge first took the oath at Plymouth, Vermont, after the death of President Harding, he added:

"So help me God."

ected. It has never found that the necessary enjoyment of such a peace could be maintained only by a great and threatening array of arms. In common with other nations, it is now more determined than ever to promote peace through friendliness and good will, through mutual understanding and mutual forbearance. We have never practiced the policy of competitive armaments. We have recently committed ourselves by covenants with the other great nations to a limitation of our sea power. As one result of this, our Navy ranks larger in comparison than it ever did before. Removing the burden of expense and jealousy, which must always accrue from a keen rivalry, is one of the most effective methods of diminishing that unreasonable hysteria and misunderstanding which are the most potent means of fomenting war. This policy represents a new departure in the world. It is a thought, an ideal, which has led to an entirely new line of action. It will not be easy to maintain. Some never move from their old position, some are constantly slipping back to the old ways of thought and the old action of seizing a musket and relying on force. America has taken the lead in this new direction, and that lead America must continue to hold. We expect and others rely on our fairness and justice. We must show that we rely on their fairness and justice.

If we are to judge by past experience, there is much to be hoped for in international relations from frequent conferences and consultations. We have before us the beneficial results of the Washington conference and the various consultations recently held upon European affairs, some of which were in respect to the suggestions and in some of which we were active participants. Even the failures can not be accounted useful and an immeasurable advance over threatened or actual warfare. I am strongly in favor of a continuation of this policy, whenever conditions are such that there is even a promise that practical and favorable results might be secured.

In conformity with the principle that a display of reason rather than a threat of force should be the determining factor in the intercourse among nations, we have long advocated the peaceful settlement of disputes by methods of arbitration and have negotiated many treaties to secure that result. The same considerations should lead to our adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice. Where great principles are involved, where great movements are under way which promise much for the welfare of humanity by reason of the very fact that many other nations have given such movements their actual support, we ought not to withhold our own sanction because of any small and insignificant difference, but only upon the ground of the most important and compelling fundamental reasons. We can not barter away our independence or our sovereignty, but we ought to engage in no refinements of logic, no sophistification, no subterfuges, to argue away the undoubted duty of this country by reason of the might of its numbers, the power of its resources, and its position of leadership in the world. We ought to be responsive to the active and comprehensive to signify its approval and to bear its full share of the responsibility of a candid and disinterested attempt at the establishment of a tribunal for the administration of even-handed justice between nation and nation. The weight of our enormous influence must be cast upon the side of a reign of force but of law and final, not by battle but by reason.

We have never any wish to interfere in the political conditions of any other country. Especially are we determined not to become implicated in the political controversies of the Old World. With a great deal of hesitation, we have responded to appeals for help to maintain order, protect life and property, and establish a possible government in some of the small countries of the Western Hemisphere. Our private citizens have advanced large sums of money to assist in the necessary financing and relief of the Old World. We have not fallen nor shall we fall to respond whenever necessary to mitigate human suffering and assist in the rehabilitation of distressed nations. These too, are requirements which must be met by reason of our vast powers and the place we hold in the world.

Some of the best thought of mankind has long been seeking for a formula for permanent peace. Undoubtedly the rehabilitation of the principles of international law would be helpful and the efforts of scholars to prepare such a work for adoption by the various nations should have

THE PRESIDENT AND THE FIRST LADY

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE MRS. CALVIN COOLIDGE

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge And Her Husband Are Sharp Study In Contrast

"Typically American" is the briefest and most commonly voiced estimate of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, and yet in many respects she and her husband present a study in contrasts.

Where Calvin Coolidge is a man of few words, Grace Goodhue Coolidge is a delightful conversationalist; where he has a dry sort of humor she bubbles over with fun and good nature; where he is almost embarrassed at social functions, she is at ease.

The early life of Grace Anna Goodhue, who became Mrs. Calvin Coolidge October 4, 1905, was that of the average American girl. Her father included a Democrat, was a business man of moderate means in Burlington, Vermont. She went to school in Burlington, and then to the University of Vermont, where she was graduated in 1902.

Desiring to enter some sort of direct service to human need, she became a teacher at the Clark School for the Deaf at Northampton, Mass. It was at Northampton that she and Mr. Coolidge met. Throughout all his political contests, she has been one of her husband's inspirations although she never attempts to take an active part. She is in favor of woman suffrage, but believes the most important field for activity for a woman is the home.

She writes regularly to John, the son, who is in college at Amherst, and direction. It is true that we could with profit, be less sectional and more national in our thought. It would be well if we could replace much that is only a false and ignorant prejudice with a true and enlightened pride of race. But the last election showed that appeals to class and nationality had little effect. We were all found loyal to a common citizenship. The fundamental precept of liberty is toleration. We can not permit any inquisition either within or without the law or apply any religious test to the holding of office. The mind of America must be forever free.

It is in such contemplations, my fellow countrymen, which are not exhaustive but only representative, that I find ample warrant for satisfaction and encouragement. We should not feel the much that is to be done obscure the much which has been done. The past and present show faith and hope and courage fully justified. Here stands our country, an example of tranquility at home, a nation of tranquility abroad. Here stands its Government, aware of its might but obedient to its conscience. Here it will continue to stand, seeking peace and prosperity, solicitous for the welfare of the wage earner, promoting enterprise, developing waterways and natural resources, attentive to the intuitive counsel of womanhood, encouraging education, supporting the advancement of religion, supporting the cause of justice and honor among the nations. America seeks no earthly empire built on blood and force. No ambitions, no temptations lure her to thought of foreign dominions. The lessons which she sends forth are aimed, not with the sword, but with the cross. The highest state to which she seeks the allegiance of all mankind is not of human, but of divine origin. She cherishes no purpose save to merit the favor of Almighty God.

DOCTOR-SLAYER-FAILS IN TRIPLE SUICIDE ACT

By Associated Press
Denver, Colo. — "If I killed my daughter I did wrong" This qualified confession came from the lips of Dr. Harold Elmer Blazer, Monday night in the first extended statement he has made since his invalid daughter Hazel was found dead in the family home a week ago Tuesday.

His next sentence was "If I did kill her I have no recollection of it." Hazel was 32 years old when she died. Authorities said she had been suffocated by chloroform. District Attorney Stone of Englewood, a suburb where the Blazers lived said that a warrant charging the father with first degree murder would be served Tuesday.

When he greeted newspapermen late Monday night Dr. Blazer was lying in a hospital bed apparently recovering rapidly from what his brother-in-law, Roy E. Bishop said were three attempts to end his own life. He told the authorities and the third attempt was made by slashing his throat. Bishop and his wife lived in the Blazer home.

BLAINE'S COUNSEL IS MADE REGENT OF "U"

By Associated Press
Madison — Appointment of Michael Obilich of Madison as a member of the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin for the third congressional district for the term expiring next Monday in February, 1931, was announced Tuesday by Gov. John F. Blaine.

Mr. Obilich, who has been executive counsel for Gov. Blaine, succeeds Harry L. Butler of Madison.

COOLIDGE LOST ONE POLITICAL FIGHT IN LIFE

President Worked His Way to Exalted Position from Humble Start

Calvin Coolidge became the thirty-third President of the United States on August 2, 1923, through the death of President Harding and today became the second man in the history of the republic to be inaugurated chief executive in his own right after having been elevated directly from the vice-presidency to the nation's highest office. The other so honored was Theodore Roosevelt.

The chief executive of the nation for the next four years was born on Independence Day, 1872, on a farm that lies hedged in by the Green Mountains on the outskirts of the little village of Plymouth, Vermont. His ancestors settled in Massachusetts in 1630. John Coolidge, now in his 79th year, still lives on the farm, and it was in the farm house that Calvin Coolidge took the oath of office upon the death of President Harding. His mother, Victoria Moor Coolidge, died when he was 13 years old.

AMHERST GRADUATE

Mr. Coolidge received his education in the common schools, at Black River Academy, Ludlow, Vermont, 12 miles from Plymouth, and still Plymouth's nearest railroad point, at St. Johnsbury Academy, and at Amherst College, from which he was graduated in 1895 after four years in which he attracted no more attention than any hardworking student, unless it was by his silence.

His college course finished, Mr. Coolidge returned to his father's farm for a summer's work and in the fall accepted a position as a teacher in Northampton, Mass., since then his home. He was admitted to bar soon after he became 23 years of age. Two years later he was elected to his first office, city councilman of Northampton and put his foot on the lowest rung of the ladder that he climbed upward through the offices of state representative, mayor of Northampton, state senator, president of the state senate, and lieutenant-governor to the governorship, and from there to the Vice Presidency and finally to the Presidency.

DEFEATED ONCE

While progressing on this political ladder, he married Grace Anna Goodhue, a graduate of the University of Vermont, and then a teacher in the Clark School for the Deaf at Northampton. Two sons were born, John, now 13 years of age and in his first year at Amherst, and Calvin, Jr., whose death last July at the age of 16 brought a sorrow that still lingers over the White House.

The wedding of Calvin Coolidge and Grace Goodhue took place at Northampton, only a political defeat. Before leaving Northampton for Burlington where the wedding took place, Mr. Coolidge came out as a candidate for the school board. Thinking his prospects of election were more than good he let the matter fade into the background. At the last moment, a rival candidate was found and then, after 30 hours, Coolidge's honeymoon was too late for him to withdraw from a hopeless three-cornered contest. The Democrat was elected.

BROKE UP STRIKE

The Boston police strike which occurred while Mr. Coolidge was serving his second term as governor brought him before the country with his declaration "There is no right to strike against the public safety of anybody, anywhere, any time." Some say this labor disturbance made Calvin Coolidge, his closest friends and admirers assert it merely revealed him.

At any rate, within ten months after the strike, when the Republican National Convention assembled in Chicago, he had the support of the Massachusetts delegation for President and received scattering votes from other cities. When Warren G. Harding emerged as the Presidential nominee, it appeared that Mr. Coolidge's sun had reached its meridian, for party leaders agreed in Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin for the vice presidency. An Oregon delegate, however, offered the name of Mr. Coolidge, and the Massachusetts man swept the convention.

As vice president Mr. Coolidge attracted little attention, although he was the first vice-president to sit with the chief executive. His first public appearance was on Tuesday, August 19, 1923, when he emerged from comparative obscurity to take over the most powerful office in the world.

COOLIDGE INAUGURATED AS THIRTIETH PRESIDENT

'HELL MARIA' DAWES AND HIS TRICK PIPE MOVE TO CAPITAL

New Vice President Is New Type in Washington Political Circles

Red tape, pink teas and every shade or form of red are anathema to Charles G. Dawes, banker, soldier, author, composer and reparations expert, who today prefixed his name with the title of Vice-President of the United States.

When he sees red he can talk in a blue streak. "Hell Maria," Brig General Dawes is reported to have said before the congressional committee as he defended America's conduct of the war. That expletive had been connected with his name ever since.

As an outspoken man of action Dawes' friends described him as a new type of American leader in politics. His campaign for the Vice-Presidency was marked by attacks on "pussyfooters" and "political straddlers."

When Frank O. Lowden, Illinois' war governor, was being urged for the Republican Vice-Presidential nomination, and Dawes friends wanted it for him, Dawes said: "Nominate Lowden." Lowden was nominated but refused to accept and the Cleveland convention then turned to Charles G. Dawes. He was attending his Alma Mater's commencement week, and he made this characteristically brief statement:

"I accept the nomination by the Republican party for the Vice Presidency. I deeply appreciate the honor conferred upon me."

Dawes' last previous national service was as first director of the national budget to which he was appointed by President Harding. The president signed blank executive orders which Dawes needed only to fill out to make effective, and his budget making reduced expenditures $250,000,000.

As a lieutenant colonel of railway engineers Dawes went to France and rose to be a brigadier general in charge of purchases for the American expeditionary forces. He got guns and horses for the American soldiers by cutting red tape. In his "Hell Maria" testimony before the congressional committee in 1921, Dawes said the diplomats "were all tangled up in their red tape," and "there was too much pink tea business."

Mr. Dawes' most signal service, which made his name known internationally, took place in 1924 when he headed the reparations experts committee chosen to bring order out of chaos in the reparations impasse. In the Dawes plan he and his associates substituted business control for political and military dictation. General Dawes' "upside down" pipe became famous and was used as a campaign emblem. He never goes without it, and his friends say it will repose in his pocket as he presides over the Senate.

Among his forebears was William Dawes who rode with Paul Revere the night before Lexington and Concord. The new Vice-President is the son of General Rufus R. Dawes and was born August 27, 1855, at Marietta, Ohio. In the Civil War his father raised a company at Madison, Wis., and rose rapidly in the famous "Iron Brigade."

Charles G. Dawes was graduated from Marietta College and the Cincinnati Law School, and put out his shingle in Lincoln, Nebr., in 1886. There he became acquainted with John J. Pershing, William Jennings Bryan, and the latter's brother, Charles W. Bryan who was Dawes' Democratic opponent for the Vice President last November.

It has been said that the young lawyer borrowed the money with which he returned to Cincinnati and married Caro D. Blymer on January 24, 1889. In Lincoln he became a public utility counselor afterward removing his offices to Chicago and his home to Evanston, Illinois, when he became president of the Northwestern Gas Light and Coke Company, which was later acquired by the People's Gas Light and Coke Company.

In 1912 Dawes' only son, Rufus Fearing Dawes, a Princeton student, was drowned at Lake Geneva, Wis., and a tribute written by the father was read at the funeral and afterward reprinted in hundreds of thousands of copies by the Young Men's Christian Association. A daughter, Carolyn, lives in Chicago.

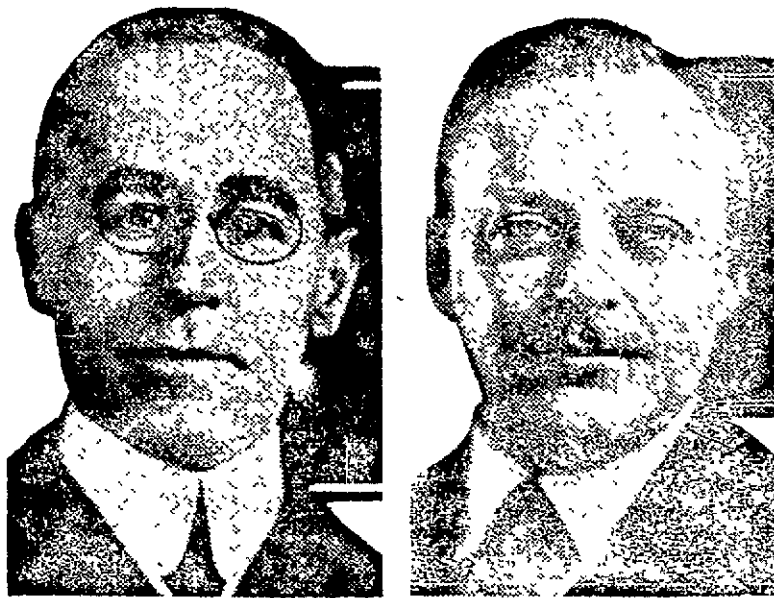

In 1896 Dawes attracted the attention of Mark Hanna, and became manager of the Illinois campaign for McKinley, who appointed him comptroller of the currency. Afterward he returned to Chicago and founded the Central Trust Company of Illinois, of which he has been chairman of the board for several years.

Dawes is a devotee of music and literature. Several years ago he composed his "Melody in A Major" which critics found meritorious. Back in Lincoln, Neb., he wrote a book: "The Banking System of the United States."

He and Mrs. Dawes are especially devoted to their home and two charming children, Dana, 12, and Virginia, 11. Dawes' philanthropies are numerous, but mostly unknown outside his immediate circle. He established in honor of his father and mother the Dawes hotels for unfortunate men and women who were thus enabled to obtain "bath, bed and breakfast" for ten cents.

Mrs. Dawes is a delightful hostess, but Mr. Dawes likes informality. In France his leather puttees caused him a lot of trouble, enduring him for sometimes he confided in a brother officer, who learned that the general was wearing garters under the leath- ers. He still wears the garters.

TODAY'S INAUGURAL SHARP CONTRAST TO OATH 2 YEARS AGO

Coolidge Took First Presidential Oath in Father's Farmhouse

By Associated Press
Washington—Despite his desire for simplicity, President Coolidge took the oath of office in surroundings that contrast strikingly with the lamp-lighted Vermont farm house where he took the nation's helm in the early morning hours of August, 3, 1923.

All of the solemn dignity which the American citizen demands shall accompany the installation of a chief executive attended today's ceremony, and the climax, when the black-robed chief justice of the United States, in impressive fashion, swore the President to uphold the Constitution, was removed from the tragic mid-night atmosphere of the Plymouth inauguration, nearly two years ago.

To look upon this scene John Coolidge, father of the President, came to Washington although the ceremonies were much more restrained and simple than in some former years, they were lifted with pomp and splendor in comparison with the night when the duty fell to Colonel Coolidge of swearing in his own son as chief executive of the nation.

On that occasion, acting in his capacity as village notary public of Plymouth, John Coolidge called his son Calvin into the small farm room, where an oil lamp was flickering, stood across a table and pledged him to fidelity to his country and its institutions.

"I do solemnly swear," Calvin Coolidge said then, "that I will faithfully execute the office of President of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States."

Then, on his own initiative, he added:

"So help me God."

The same oath was administered today in the presence of cheering crowds, but it was no more binding or effective than the simpler one made necessary by the turn of the fates.

MANY "REGULARS" GIVE UP SEATS AS CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Vast Number of Changes Will Be Made in New Legislative Body

Washington—The Congress of blocs—the Sixty eighth—passed into legislative history at noon today.

It will be succeeded by one in which the Republicans will have an actual as well as a nominal majority and in which the Lafolette insurgents will find themselves stripped of the power to mould legislation.

This change will be brought about as a result of the election turn-over which decreased Democratic strength in both houses and reduced likewise the number of insurgents in the Senate.

With clear working majorities assured in the two houses the Republican organizations have excluded the insurgents from their councils, depriving them of committee promotions in the Senate and stripping them of committee chairmanships in the House.

In contrast to the present Congress, in which the Democrats and insurgents combined have a majority in both the House and Senate the line up in the Sixty-ninth Congress will be:

HOUSE
Republicans (regular)233
Republicans (insurgents) 12
Democrats183
Scattering 5
Vacancies (nominally Rep.) 2

SENATE
Republicans (regular) 51
Republicans (insurgents) 4
Democrats 40
Farmer-Labor 1

This change will bring many new members to the halls of Congress to replace men retiring, some of whom have long held a dominant place in the legislative life of the nation.

Senators who passed out of the picture with the falling of the gavel at noon today include L. Heisler Ball, Delaware; Holm O. Bursum, New Mexico; Thomas Sterling, South Dakota and Davis Elkins, West Virginia, Republicans; David I. Walsh, Massachusetts; A. Owsley Stanley, Kentucky; Robert L. Owen, Oklahoma; Nathaniel B. Dial, South Carolina; and John K. Shields, Tennessee, Democrats; and Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Labor, Minnesota.

With the passing of Mr. Walsh, Massachusetts will have two new Senators, Speaker Frederick H. Gillett moving up from the House to join with William M. Butler, who came in this session to fill the place so long held by Henry Cabot Lodge.

Delaware will send back to the Senate T. Coleman Dupont. All the others will be men new to Senate halls. They include Charles S. Deneen, Republican, Illinois; Fred M. Sackett, Republican, Kentucky; Thomas D. Schall, a Republican House member from Minnesota, whose election to the Senate is contested by Magnus Johnson; W. P. Pine, Republican, Oklahoma; W. H. McMaster, Republican, South Dakota, and Guy D. Goff, Republican, West Virginia.

In the place of Senator Dial, South Carolina sends to the Senate Coleman L. Blease, a former governor, who for years has been the center of bitter political feuds in that state. Other new Democratic Senators are Sam G. Bratton, New Mexico, and L. D. Tyson, Tennessee.

The shift in House memberships affect 77 Congressional districts, giving Pennsylvania a solid Republican delegation of 36 as against a lineup of 30 Republicans and 20 Democrats in this Congress, and reducing the Democratic representation from a number of northern states.

Along with the retiring Democrats go a number of Republican leaders who either declined to stand for reelection or were retired by the electorate. Among the former are Everett Sanders, of Indiana, President Coolidge's new Secretary, Chairman Winlow, of the commerce committee; Chairman McKenzie, of the military committee; Chairman Snyder of the Indian committee and Representative Sidney Anderson of Minnesota, a member of the majority steering committee and one of the authorities in the House on Agricultural legislation. The Democrats leaving include Isaac R. Sherwood of Ohio, who at 90 years of age is the oldest member of the House and the last of the Union veterans to hold a seat in that body. Another prominent on the minority side to complete his service is James P. Byrnes, of South Carolina.

The one woman member of the old House, Mrs. Mae L. Nolan, of California, retires voluntarily. But there will be two women members of the new house. Mrs. Mary T. Norton, a Democrat, who was elected in November to represent the Twelfth New Jersey District, as a Democrat and Mrs. chosen in California to take the seat of Julius Kahn, a Republican, recently left vacant by the death of her husband. Mrs. Norton is the first woman to sit in the house as a Democrat and also is the first to represent a district east of the Mississippi river.

The Printer Knows The Value of System

Hand composition would be practically impossible if he did not have his type perfectly systematized. You can easily imagine his predicament if every time he reached, say, for a B he found an X.

And if he can imagine your predicament if every time you looked in the A-B-C Classified Section for Business Service you found it indexed under X.

In the A-B-C Classified Section of the Post-Crescent—as in the printer's type case—every letter is in its correct place. Every A-B-C Ad is an alphabetical order for quick and convenient finding.

That—as you have of course inferred—is why they are called A-B-C Ads.

The Post-Crescent's Classified Section is as perfect as scientific system can make it—and as profitable for you from the opportunity standpoint as it can be made.

Read it—and prosper!
